DEDICATION TO OUR ILLUSTRIOUS ALUMNI

THROUGH the still lapse of many years there has gathered upon the gleaming shores of Time a group of Ole Miss Alumni to whom the world has forever allotted a place in the Eternal Sunshine. Literature is enriched, Education broadened, Jurisprudence strengthened, and the Kingdom of God increased because of them. The world is better because they lived; life sweeter and more hopeful to manifold multitudes because of their efforts; the future beckons to Mankind more alluringly because of their great achievements. They found the world imperfect, and left it so, but by their eminent deeds they erected for themselves imperishable monuments of affection in the hearts of their fellowmen, and cast undying honor and glory upon their beloved Alma Mater. To these departed illustrious sons, we dedicate this book in deepest admiration and humblest reverence.

A Greater University

WHEN in 1845 the wisest men of the State gathered as a law-making body, decided it incumbent upon them to establish a State University—they acted wisely and well. When some three years later the University of Mississippi first opened its doors to searchers after higher knowledge, it began that notable career of sacrifice and service which has meant so much to the State. From the first it attracted eminent men to act as instructors, and after a few years, boasted of equipment second to none in the South. From its class rooms went men who became powerful forces in the state and nation; men whom the love of money could not buy, nor the force of threats coerce, but men who stood always for the best in morality and citizenship. The work of the University was arduous, but well done. The people took a just and kindly pride in its development, and in its luster-hallowed record. The men who departed from its doors went well equipped in affairs of state, science, or literature to contribute their aid in the molding of humanity's better forces. Fortune's favor seemed content to remain undisturbed by warring factions and bigoted prejudices, and Ole Miss bade fair to continue in her path of progressive development commensurate to the resources of her mother State. But, alas! an evil day lay in store for this great and humble servant of the State. Her people who had fostered and nurtured her through the tring days of infancy and early youth, those who had most materially aided and encouraged her in her rapid development, passed away, and in their stead came a people who understood and appreciated neither the growing needs nor the brilliant achievements of this great fountain-head of their intellectual life. Came the day when the appropriations, the food and drink of every State institution fell away and the once proud and well-equipped University began to struggle under the mighty handicap of niggardly appropriations, unjust criticism and undervaluation. Undismayed—the brave men at her head never faltered, never hesitated, but as best they could—with meager support, insufficient equipment, and underpaid instructors kept the dear Old School in the forefront of educational institutions—sending a constant stream of enlightened, industrious and well-equipped men into every walk of life to act as leaders in the struggle after a better existence

OLE MISS

Came the day when rumblings and signs of disapproval of the niggardly handling of its greatest asset issued from the people of the State and today, after an interval of a score of years, fickle fortune seems again about to shed her lustrous smile upon her one-time friend and protégé. The people have awakened to the needs of their University, and the once indifferent legislature is about to claim its long-neglected ward and steadfast friend. May it heed the summons of opportunity and release the slumbering powers of Ole Miss from the binding restraint of inadequate support and unappreciated effort. Then, and then only, can the State University serve all the people to its best ability and fullest extent. Then, and not till then, can Ole Miss render in full that great service of educating the youth of the State, for which all the people are taxed and for which only a few receive compensation.

The past is gone—let there be no regrets. The present is alluring, and holds a prophecy of happier days. Let us concern ourselves not with that which has gone before, but that which is to come. What shall be the future of our Alma Mater? It must be more truly the servant of all the people, and this is impossible without adequate pecuniary support. It must be in the future, as in the past, the advance guard of tolerance and broad comprehension. It must more truly encourage the youth of this great State for a fuller realization of their capacities and potentialities. No longer must thirsty wanderers after the fountain of knowledge be denied admittance into their State University because of lack of dormitory facilities; no longer must the equipment be time-worn, meager, and obsolete. But there should be a place for each and every child of every citizen of the State, and to them should be offered the best instruction that the resources of a great State can secure. Then, and not till then, can the University serve all the people as it would; then, and not till then, will all the citizens realize that to them their University is their greatest friend and asset.

Ole Miss is the greatest and most humble servant of the people. That she may become more truly the instructor of all our youth, and that with the years will come only increased material prosperity and enhanced greatness is the ardent wish of every friend of advancement in the State.

E. L. C.

To Our Alma Mater

KATHLEEN BALDWIN

Goodbye, Alma Mater!

The haunting memory of the happy days
Now ending oft shall bring you back
To the fellows that we lived with, fought with, loved with,
In class room, or on campus, field, and track!

But—goodbye!

Before us sundry worlds to conquer lie
With beckoning promise that is fire
To our youth; for even tho' we meet with hardships,
We must seek the Land of Heart's Desire!

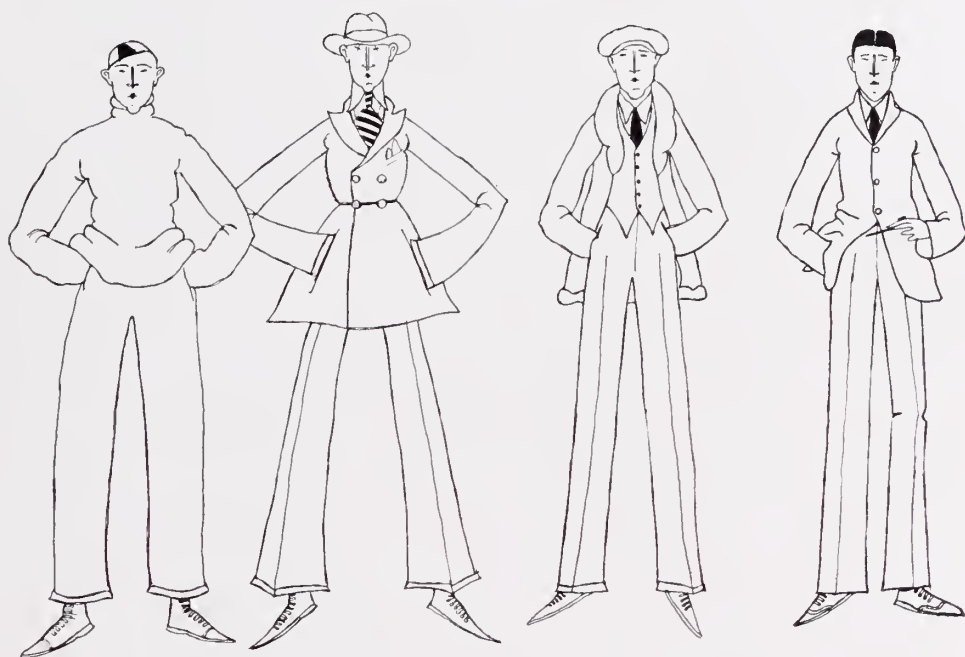

Goodbye, Alma Mater!

The Future calls, and we must answer; yet
Ambition gratified complete,
Cannot replace in our life thy nameless charm
Made up in parts of Glad and Sad and Sweet.

But—goodbye!

Thy many lessons that have fused themselves
Into our being, shall, we ween,
Not be forgot; but stand us true in need
Tho! many years and miles shall intervene!
And so—goodbye!

*"On his piercing eye
Sat observation; on each glance of thought
Decision foll'd".*

Varsity Football '17, '18, '19; Varsity Baseball '18, '19; President Phi Sigma; Mississippian Board of Control; Assistant Athletic Director '18-19; Intercollegiate Debater '19.

We refuse to believe Professor Bell's Political Science, or the Phi Sigma Literary Society could continue to operate without this "oracle of wisdom." Not a prince in banquet halls, but a capable, hardworking fellow.

H. H. BELL, B.A.
Trenton, Miss.

*"Whate'er he did was done with so much ease,
In him alone 'twas natural to please."*

Red and Blue Club; Masonic Club; Webb School Club; U. S. Navy; Sullivan's Hollow Club; Crow's Nest '17; Yellow Dog Club.

An ex-ladies' man, school teacher, and warrior. A serious hardworking student, who places his classes first in his attention, yet who has as much fun as the next fellow.

HENRY ANDERSON BUTLER, B.S.
Liberty, Miss.

*"Unmoved, calm and serene he walks,
He has the gait of a tractor engine."*

Millsaps 1916-1917; Kappa Sigma; Masonic Club.

Not endowed with the beauty of Apollo, but a man of keen intellect, pleasing personality, and aggressive force. His fondest dream is that of a cozy bungalow on the banks of the Susquehanna with (deleted).

STEWART HARRISON BUTLER, B.S.
McCall's Creek, Miss.

"Labor conquereth all"

A steady, industrious student. A man who would weep if his grades fell below A, which he never did. Cupid's darts will fall harmlessly about him.

OLE MISS

JAMES WILSON CARNATHAN, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

*"A man who seems of cheerful yesterdays
And confident to-morrows."*

A local boy whom we are glad to number among our friends in town and to whom we are indebted for many kindnesses.

ANDRE BLYTHE CARNEY, B.S.

Clarksdale, Miss.

"They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts."

Sigma Chi; Y. M. C. A. Council '17, '18; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '19, '20; Vice-President Red and Blue Club; Junior Prom Dance Committee; Ole Miss Dance Committee '18, '19; Vice President A. S. B. O. '20; Varsity Football '19, '20; Varsity Baseball '19; Captain Baseball '20; Bone Dry Club; "M" Club; Mississippian Board Control '20; Crow's Nest Club; Hermaean; American Legion.

Small in stature, but big in heart, Alpha is one of the most popular fellows on the campus. Whether climbing flag-poles, bewildering opposing batteries, or making love, he excels in all. A man with no enemies, but many friends.

ELIZA SOMMERVILLE CHEEK, B.S.

Canton, Miss.

*"Happy am I, from care I am free,
Why aren't they all contented like me."*

Ole Misses; Honor Council; Alph Theta.

One whom the graces have smiled upon. Lovable by nature and studious by inclination—she is one entitled to an opinion of her own. Her outstanding trait is her love for Sophomore Physics.

EDWARD LOUIS COCHRAN, B.S.

Baldwyn, Miss.

"One who loves the odor of powder and perfume."

A. A. A. H.; University Club; Scribblers; Vice-President Y. M. C. A.; Intercollegiate Debater '19; Chief Hobo A. A. A. H. '19; Vice-President Sophomore Class; Odom Prize, '18; Fleas; Bone Dry Club; Secretary Hermaean '18; Gordon Hall Board Control '20; Y. M. C. A. Council '18; American Legion; Mississippian Board Control '20; Athletic Editor Mississippian '18; Editor-in-Chief Mississippian '19; Athletic Editor "Ole Miss" '18, '19; Editor-in-Chief "Ole Miss" '20.

His efforts at scribbling, his love (?) of hard work and uncensored vocal propensities distinguish him as one set apart from the rest of mankind.

OLE MISS

EDMUND M. COWART, B.S.

Water Valley, Miss.

"All his faults are such that one loves him the better for them."

Red and Blue Club; Senior Dance Committee; Varsity Football '17, '18 '19; Captain Football Team '19; "M" Club; President, Medical Club; Bone Dry Club; Yellow Dog Club; Y. M. C. A. Council '17, '18; University Orchestra '17, '18, '19.

A gentle-tongued, modest, handsome fellow whose looks have made many a fair maiden sigh. Always near the top whether on the Athletic field, or in the class room.

RUFUS HORTON CREEKMORE, B.S.

Water Valley, Miss.

"Ability wins us the esteem of true men; luck that of the people."

Red and Blue Club; Chairman Red and Blue Dance Committee; Varsity Football '18, '19; "M" Club; Mgr. Interclass Athletics; Athletic Editor Annual '19, '20; Vice-President Junior Class '18, '19; Bone Dry Club; Blackstone Club; American Legion; University Orchestra '17, '18.

Being from Water Valley and professing an acquaintance with E. M. Cowart was his greatest drawbacks. "Benny" is a ladies' man, long, graceful, and admirable to even himself.

SEBRON C. CULPEPPER, B.S.

Wiggins, Miss.

"Merit was ever modest known."

American Legion; Y. M. C. A. Council; Scrub Baseball '18; Medical Club; Red and Blue Club; Senior Dance Committee; Taylor Medal.

The lad from South Miss. with the tailor-made shape. Cully was never known to eat more than twenty-seven skids and utterly abhors anything stronger than water.

J. PRESTON DAVIS, B.S.

Bond, Miss.

*"Doubt that the Sun doth move;
But never doubt I love."*

Phi Sigma '17, '18; Glee Club '17; Y. M. C. A. '16-20; Y. M. C. A. Council '18; Medical Club '19, '20.

Day before yesterday he had his hair parted in the center. He always gets the front row at all musical comedies and never fails to carry opera glasses.

OLE MISS

SARA RUTH DEAN, B.A.

Greenwood, Miss.

"All that I sought, I have, or ever seeking shall acquire."

Reporter Greek Club, '17, '18, '19, '20; Secretary-Treasurer Pre-Med. Class '18; Secretary-Treasurer Junior Medical Class, '19; Honor Council, '19, '20; Mississippian Staff '17, '18, '19, '20; Medical Club; G. M. C. U. L.; President of Alpha Theta Literary Society '20.

Her amusements and recreations are uniformly innocuous, dissecting, poetry, etc. Space, modesty and the lady forbid us to say more.

HINDMAN DOXEY, B.S.

Holly Springs, Miss.

*"If there's delight in love, 'tis when I see
That heart, which others bleed for, bleeds for me."*

President Y. M. C. A. '20; President Sophomore Class; Most Popular Boy '19; Chairman Junior Prom Committee '20; Vice-President Hermaean '19, '20; Secretary Scribblers '20; Red and Blue Club; Ole Miss Dance Committee '19; Cheer-leader '18, '19; Intercollegiate Debater; Treasurer American Legion; Hermaean Orator '18; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '18, '19; University Club; Blackstone Club; Ole Miss Staff '19; Mississippian Staff '18; Bone Dry Club; Crow's Nest Club; Yellow Dogs; Ole Miss Board Control; Mississippian Board Control; Secretary Gordon Hall Board Control; Athletic Board Control; A. S. B. O.; P. O. Club; Honor Council; Historian Freshman Class.

A man with Holly Springs characteristics. Tall, lean, with dreamy eyes—his is a figure to command attention. Born to command, but just as willing to follow.

MARY McNEILL DUNLAP, B.S.

University, Miss.

*"Can wisely tell what hour o' the day,
The clock does strike by algebra."*

Taylor Medal in Mathematics '18; Student Assistant in Bacteriology and Pathology 1918-19, 1919-20; Varsity Basket Ball 1916-1920; Captain Basket Ball '20; G. M. C. U. L.; Greek Club.

One who achieves what she desires. An authority on Mathematics and Bacteriology. A lady with rare accomplishments and enviable record.

BRYAN ENGLAND, B. A.

West Point, Miss.

"I am not in the roll of common men."

Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '20; Greek Club; News Editor Mississippian '19; Editor-in-Chief Mississippian '20; Ole Miss Staff '19; Honor Roll '17, '18, '19; Rhodes Scholar, Oxford, England '19; Historian Sophomore Class.

He stands out as a man to be followed—first in all he undertakes. A Rhodes Scholar from Ole Miss, he is at present in Oxford, England. A great future awaits his entrance.

OLE MISS

A. P. GEORGE, B.S.

Nitta Yuma, Miss.

"Why all this toil and trouble?"

Hermæan 16-20; Bone Dry Club 16-17; Scrub Football 16-17; Y. M. C. A. Council 17-18; Varsity Football 17-18; "M" Club Secretary; 17-18; A. A. A. H. 17-18, Hermæan Chapter Alpha Phi Epsilon 17-18; Pres. A. A. A. H. 17-18; Masonic Club 19-20; Varsity Football 19-20; A. S. B. O. Treas. 19-20; Board of Control "Ole Miss" 19-20; American Legion; Ole Miss. Treas. 19-20; Historian, American Legion 19-20.

Quiet, unassuming, a man of few words and strong feeling. A splendid athlete, a good student, and one with all the ear-marks of success.

FRANCES GILES, B.A.

Chalybeate, Miss.

*"I value science—none can prize it more;
It gives ten thousand motives to adore."*

President Honor Council, 19-20; G. M. C. U. L.; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Secretary Y. W. C. A. 19-20; Greek Club; Medical Club; Secretary Senior Medical Class; Vice-President Alpha Theta.

Small in stature, sweet in disposition, and brilliant in mind she is one whom many admire and none dislike. An omnivorous reader of novels and home-brewed poetry.

F. T. HARVEY, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

*"Who shall decide, when doctors disagree,
And soundest casuists doubt, like you and me?"*

First Violin, Orchestra 17-20; Grub Mocher, A. A. A. H. 18-19; Chief Hobo, A. A. A. H. 19-20; Secretary and Treasurer, Junior Medical Class 19-20; Medical Club.

Big in body and soul, jovial in disposition and keen in intellect. One of the best-liked fellows on the campus, with a weakness for Freshman Math.

S. H. HAWKS, B.S.

Meridian, Miss.

"There is no courage, but in innocence, no constancy but in an honest cause."

Freshman Medal; Hermæan; Y. M. C. A. Council and Cabinet; Mississippian Staff, '17; Ole Miss Staff '17-18; Odom Prize, division.

During his residence at Ole Miss "Cicero" has firmly established himself as a man of independent will and true merit. Modest, unassuming, but always for the right, he has a firm place in the affections of his friends.

OLE MISS

WILLIAM WILSON HULL, B.S.

Meridian, Miss.

*"Indulge, and to thy genius freely give,
For not to live at ease is not to live."*

Red and Blue Club; Bone Dry Club; A. A. A. H. Club; University Club; Fleas; Y. M. C. A. Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Treasurer Y. M. C. A. '20; Hermaean Anniversarian '19; Intercollegiate debater '19; President Junior Class; Business Manager Mississippian '20; Baseball Manager '20; A. S. B. O.

Diminutive in stature, but massive in intellect. A man of voluminous correspondence, and large affairs. Apt in his studies, and direct in his dealings—his life journey should be toward the mountain top.

WILLIAM PURVIS IVY, B.A.

Brookhaven, Miss.

*"I may justly say, with the Conqueror of Rome,
'I came, I saw, I conquered.'"*

Y. M. C. A. Council; Honor Student in Mathematics; Greek Club; Mississippian Staff '20; Elected Best Student '20; President Brookhaven Club '20; Honor Roll 1916-1920; Reporter Phi Sigma '20; American Legion; Editor Book of 'Classes "Ole Miss" '20. Manager Senior Literary Athletic Club '20. B.A. with Distinction.

For four years he hasn't cut a single class. He has two hobbies, Physics and Mathematics, and in these he has been a "community coach" and has served well in this capacity. He has made good grades and a record to be proud of.

JAMES ARTHUR JOHNSON, B.S.

Tula, Miss.

"In their own merits, modest men are dumb."

Medical Club '19, '20.

He's a lamb in a crowd, girls, but oh! my! just get him alone, "you'd be surprised." Besides being a good student he is well liked among his fellow students.

IRA FULTON JONES, B.S.

Hernando, Miss.

*"He danced without theatrical pretense,
Not a ballet-dancer in the van,
But like a gentleman."*

Hermaean Literary Society; Yellow Dogs; Medical Club; Ole Miss Staff '19; Y. M. C. A. Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '19; Crow's Nest Club; American Legion.

Not a shark in Freshman Math or Sophomore Physics, but a naughty cut-up in writing love letters. One of the best-natured, genial, well-liked fellows on the Campus.

OLE MISS

ROBERT DIXON KIRK, JR., B.S.

Baldwyn, Miss.

*"Lest men suspect your tale untrue
Keep probability in view."*

Junior Prom; Chief Yegg A. A. A. H. Club; Medical Club; "M" Club; Bone Dry Club; "Fleas" Club; Yellow Dog; Masonic Club; Secretary Hermæan Literary Society; Y. M. C. A. Council '19; Scrub Football '17; Varsity Football '18; Varsity Football '19; Varsity Baseball '19; Second Vice-President "Black Eye Boxing Club."

A tall, alert young fellow with a piercing eye. One who can make A's, play football, and take in all the shows at the same time.

ASHFORD HUNTER LITTLE, B.S.

Wesson, Miss.

"That I might live alone once with my gold O, 'tis a sweet companion kind and true."

Y. M. C. A. Council '19, '20; Red and Blue Club; Medical Club; Senior Dance Committee; Yellow Dogs; Bone Dry Club; Chief Surgeon "Black Eye Boxing Club."

A most dependable, and wide-awake young fellow. A social lion, and a bear in his classroom work—he is a man to be reckoned with.

ADDIE ELIZABETH McCAIN, B.A.

Greenwood, Miss.

*"We knew her by her beauty and wit,
Her affability and bashful modesty,
Her wondrous qualities and mild behavior."*

"Ole Miss" Staff '19, '20; Mississippian Staff '19, '20; "Ole Miss" Board of Control, '20; President Y. W. C. A. '18, '19; Treasurer Y. W. C. A. '20; Vice-President Greek Club, '20; Alpha Theta; Taylor Medal in Biology, '19; Blues.

One to whom nature has been lavish in her endowments. A girl universally esteemed and admired. One who possesses the rare virtue of talking only when she has something to say.

EDWARD LILE MURPHREE, B.S.

Okolona, Miss.

"From the crown of his head to the sole of his foot he is all mirth."

"Ole Miss" Dance Committee; Red and Blue Club; Vice-President of Senior Literary Class.

Diminutive in form, but a Hercules with the ladies. An ardent exponent of the Terpsichorean art, and a fiend in education. Modest, quiet, and well liked by his fellows.

OLE MISS

LYDIA WHITE, B.S.

Como, Miss.

"Thy modesty, is a candle to thy merit."

Secretary-Treasurer of Junior Class '19; Greek Club; Taylor Medal in Ethics '18; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet.

A girl of serene demeanor, attractive personality, and persuasive ways. As unaffected as the air—petty trials, and vexations vex her not at all.

NATHAN WILLIAM NEWSOM, B.A.

Grenada, Miss.

"He is, as the great poets, an ever fresh fountain of inspiration and stimulation to those who truly think."

Red and Blue Club; T. A. R.; Associate Business Manager "Ole Miss" '18; Y. M. C. A. Council '17; I Tappa Keg; Kappa Alpha; Mississippian Managerial Staff '18; Ole Miss Dance Committee '18; Webb School Club; Gordon Hall Board of Control '19; Bone Dry Club; Basket Ball Manager '17, '18, '19, '20; Athletic Board of Control '18; Treasurer Associated Student Body Organization '19; Second Lieutenant U. S. A.; "Ole Miss" Staff '20.

"Bill" was the lad who absorbed all of the Latin and Greek that floated around the campus and then clamored for more. The ancient languages were not his only lines of endeavor as he is prominently identified with many a A Freshman Nightmare. A popular lad.

EDWARD HUNT RAY, B.S.

Selma, Ala.

"A faultless body and a blameless mind."

Red and Blue Club; Red and Blue Dance Committee; Bone Dry Club; A. A. A. H. Club; Medical Club; Vice-President of Junior Med. Class; "Fleas"; Varsity Football '18, '19, '20; Captain Football '19; Varsity Baseball '19; Y. M. C. A. Council '19, '20; Hermaean.

A former Auburn lad who quickly made a record for himself on the athletic field and in the class room. As aggressive as his red hair would imply, he stands first in the affections of (well, it's a girl, all right) and on the football field.

LEIGHTON W. RAY, B.S.

Kosciusko, Miss.

*"We grant, although he had much wit,
"He was very shy of using it."*

U. S. Navy; American Legion; Medical Club; Y. M. C. A.

This gentleman from Kosciusko admits that he was a bold rover of the sea in the late war and that he is proud of it. One of the most brilliant students in his class. He leaves behind him a remarkable record.

OLE MISS

JAMES ROBERT TOMLINSON, B.S.

Helena, Ark.

"If love is a crime, then I am the meanest mortal that lives."

Red and Blue Club; Secretary-Treasurer Senior Literary Class; Ole Miss Dance Committee; Yellow Dog; Strugglers Club.

A son of Helena and worthy of the name. A conscientious student and one who can enjoy the pleasures of life without having them interfere with his scholastic work.

CURTIS McWHORTER ROBERTS, B.S.

Blue Springs, Miss.

"A man I am, crossed with adversity!"

Medical Club; Masonic Club; Y. M. C. A.; M. M. E. R. C.; A. P. A.; M. D. University Mississippi '19. President Senior Medical Class, '19.

It is a high compliment to any man to say of him, "He is dependable." This compliment we give unreservedly to this man who has met and overcome the tasks confronting him here and who will do the same with the problems of life.

ROBERT CLARK STOVALL, B.S.

Okolona, Miss.

"The fashion wears out more apparel than the man."

President of Senior Literary Class; Junior Prom. Dance Committee; A. E. F. Club; Hermaean Literary Society; I Tappa Keg; Red and Blue Club; Class Football.

A true Chesterfieldian. Popular among the boys for his genial nature, and adored by the girls for his handsome face. A heart smasher, but not a trifle.

CHESTER LAMAR SUMNERS, B.A.

Marietta, Miss.

*"Along the cool sequestered vale of life,
He kept the noiseless tenor of his way."*

Honor roll; Varsity Football, '17; Basket ball '18, '19, '20; Intercollegiate debater '19; President of Phi Sigma first term '19; Member "Mississippian" Board of Control '19; "Ole Miss" '20 Editorial Staff. Masonic Club.

"Shorty" Sumners came to "Ole Miss" from the State Normal and quickly demonstrated by his splendid work here that his preparation had been of the highest caliber. In addition to being an excellent student he was a good athlete and a masterful speaker.

OLE MISS

MARJORIE TANKERSLEY, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

*"There's nothing ill can dwell in such a temple,
If the ill spirit have so fair a house,
Good things will strive to dwell with 't."*

Ole Misses; "Ole Miss" Staff '20.

A girl whose attractive personality has endeared her to all. One who is never happy save when making "A's" in her class-room work and she is always happy.

JAMES SAGER THRELKELD, B.S.

Saltillo, Miss.

"Blushes! the heart's meteor tilting in the face."

Medical Club, '19, '20.

He believes that actions speak louder than words and had made it his task to achieve rather than to talk. His record as a student is a good one but as a lover is better.

ED B. TURNER, B.S.

Hernando, Miss.

"Great works are performed not by strength but by perseverance."

Masonic Club; A. E. F. Club; American Legion; Ole Miss Engineers; Class Baseball and Football; '14, '15, '17; Yellow Dogs.

Here we have another quiet, unassuming chap who has more than made good in his works. His only weakness is that of having no weakness at all.

MARY PAINE WENDEL, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

"Time for work, yet take much holiday for art's and friendship's sake."

President of the "Blues" '20; Assistant Art Editor "Ole Miss" '20; Historian Senior Class.

President of the "I Should Gloom" Club. A girl whose cheerfulness is contagious, and one who never walks across the campus alone. She is to be a landscape (?) artist.

OLE MISS

KATIE MAE WILSON, B.S.

Hazlehurst, Miss.

"Science when well digested is nothing but good sense and reason."

Taylor Medal in Biology '19; Student Assistant in Physiology '19; Historian Senior Class '19; G. M. C. U. L.; Alpha Theta Literary Society.

An exceptionally good student, an exceptionally cheerful young person, an exceptionally attractive girl, and oh—an exceptional being.

ANNIE SEE WALKER, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

"They prize books most who are themselves wise."

Honor Roll '17-'20; Honor student in Mathematics; Student Assistant in Biology '20.

A demure little maiden of attractive personality and sparkling wit. One who considers she has not made a grade unless 'tis an "A plus."

JAMES MELVIN ROWSEY, B.S.

Oxford, Miss.

"Character is more lasting than a monument of marble."

Greek Club; American Legion; Varsity Track Team '19.

Although living in town, and being deprived of the privileges of dormitory life—he is a regular fellow, and a prince of a man. We predict for him the victory in whatever he undertakes.

JAMES NICHOLAS LOCKARD, B.A.

Van Cleave, Miss.

"Books cannot always please, however good, Minds are not ever craving for their food."

Red and Blue Dance Committee; Secretary and Treasurer Red and Blue Club '20; Y. M. C. A. Council '19, '20; Greek Club; Medical Club; Bone Dry Club.

A believer in the Classics and in Science, a good student and a better "fellow" he numbers his friends by those who know him.

OLE MISS

ROSA IRENE HARGIS, B.S.
University, Miss.

"Music that brings sweet sleep down from the blissful skies."

Student Assistant in Biology '20.

An industrious and well poised girl, of happy mannerisms and demeanor. Always happy and quick to see the bright side of everything.

MYRTLE E. RAMEY, B.S.
Indianola, Miss.

*"O life, I feel thee in the breeze,
I feel thee bounding in my veins."*

Basket-ball '17, '19, '20; Tennis Club; Spanish Club; "X" Alpha Theta.

Her tastes in the main run to athletics and scribbling poetry. Popular among both sexes, she has learned the secret of making high grades with little effort.

RUSSEL C. PIGFORD, B.S.
Meridian, Miss.

"None but himself can be his parallel."

President Freshman Class '17; President Pre-Medical Class '18; Vice-President Junior Medical Class '20; Y. M. C. A. Council '19; Assistant Business Manager "Ole Miss," '18, '19; Manager Track Team '18, '19; Track Team '19; Athletic Board Control '18; A. S. B. O. '20; Red and Blue Club; "M" Club; Bone Dry Club; "77" Club; President's Club '17; Crow's Nest Club; Cheer-Leader '18; '19; Medical Club.

"Framed to make woman false." He comes to us from Meridian, and during his four years' stay has won many friends and has made an excellent record. He is one of the most popular boys in school and does well that which he attempts to do.

JAMES BOYCE HENDERSON, B. A.
University, Miss.

"Marriage and hanging go by destiny; matches are made in heaven."

Phi Sigma Oratorical Medal; University Oratorical Medal; Representative M. I. O. A., 1916. Inter-collegiate Debating Team 1916.

A man strong in character and conscious in his belief. A hard worker, and is bound to succeed in his chosen profession.

OLE MISS

HERBERT A. HARPER, B. S.

Florence, Miss.

"A man with whom reason reigns supreme."

Blackstone Club; American Legion; Millsaps '17, '18.

A man whose countenance does not reveal his knowledge. One who can conceal his thoughts as well as anybody and who can express them much better than many. A good talker but a better listener.

TAYLOR HOLCOMB McELROY, B. S.

Burgess, Miss.

*"Old as I am, for ladies' love unfit,
The power of beauty I remember yet."*

Secretary Phi Sigma '16; Vice-President Junior Class; Mississippian Board of Control; Y. M. C. A.; A. E. F. Club; Intercollegiate Debater; Honor Council Junior Law Class '20.

A man who has tasted the joys of life, and found them sweet. A man respected by both his classmates and professors. An industrious, conscientious student.

NORMAN LESLIE REAGAN, B. S.

University, Miss.

*"That man that hath a tongue is no man,
If with that tongue he cannot win a woman."*

Vice-President Senior Medical Club.

A hard worker, a student and a married man. Could we heap higher praise upon him! Success in life awaits his bidding.

Senior Class History

Friends, Professors, Classmates:

WE come to bid farewell but not to praise ourselves. The evil that we've done will live after us when you speak of the old days when—but we will not remind you. Better to sing our own praises and hope for the psychological effect of suggestion. But we have had our faults—even we were Freshmen. We have extracted from the next Freshman class the debt passed on to us by those who went before—an eye for an eye, a belt for a razor strop, a scalp for a mass of Mother's son's precious locks. And which life was happier, as a victim or as a criminal?

Dr. Milden says we are a warring class and Dr. Milden is an honorable man. There were wars and rumors of war. Our Freshmen ears were shocked by turmoil upon our very campus! Our childish eyes were forced to see such sights as Oxford's stern policemen and we decided for peace at any price in the future. As Sophomores, Oxford itself turned against "Our" University, and then we won some credits by going in the Springtime to fight starvation in our own farmyards. As Juniors we had our hardest fight of all—those unhonored conquests in the S. A. T. C. There was K. P., class, then drill, more K. P., and more but never did the most wonderful girl in the world murmur proudly and tearfully "My Hero! How Glorious!" After all that Mars had already done against us in those other years, just when we were leaving for Officers Training Camps, almost hearing the above mentioned coveted murmur, the war ended! In one more way Germany proved herself inconsiderate. For us at home there was envy mixed with our pride in those brothers overseas.

This last year has come. We have beaten our swords with pens, but, alas, ten pens will not write all the wisdom that we possess! Our professors say that degrees are doubtful. Of course it depends on us—but the professors are honorable men. Our degrees will be our laurels. Could ambition be made of sterner stuff?

How little histories ever tell of people or a country or a class. Only things that happen ever get into history's pages—it is never the secret hopes, aims, loves, noble unrealized ambitions, the ideals,—or perhaps, if they do, they are such fragile, ethereal things they are crushed amid the mass of cold hard facts. We have fallen far short of what we would like to have been but these things have meant happiness and hope and the future to us and we, leaving, mention them within our wills, a rich legacy and yet one we may keep for ourselves. In after years, may some of you have memories of us only half as inspiring as our memories of you!

ROSS E. ANDERSON, M. D.
Booneville, Miss.

"He never says a foolish thing, nor ever does a wise one."

B. A. Mississippi College 1918; Medical Club '20.

A former Mississippi College man who has seen the light. A serious student who takes life as he finds it, and allows his troubles to come to him.

EDGAR BURNS, M.D.
Maud, Alabama.

*"Tis not in mortals to command success,
But we'll do more, we'll deserve it."*

Masonic Club; Medical Club; President Junior Medical Class '19; American Legion; A. S. B. O. '19.

A lad with a long body and a "long" head. Always on the job—he never fails to stand in the forefront of his class.

ANDRE BLYTHE CARNEY, M.D.
Clarksdale, Miss.

"He hath o'er his books consumed the midnight oil."

Sigma Chi; Y. M. C. A. Council '17, '18; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '19, '20; Vice-President Red and Blue Club; Junior Prom Dance Committee; Ole Miss Dance Committee '18, '19; Vice-President A. S. B. O. '20; Varsity Football '19, '20; Varsity Baseball '19; Captain Baseball '20; Bone Dry Club; "M" Club; Mississippian Board Control '20; Crow's Nest Club; Hermaean; American Legion. "Alpha" is a social star, an athlete and a student. By his genial, lovable traits he has made all who know him love him—especially the Co-eds.

ROWERT W. COOPER, M. D.
Durant, Miss.

*"A man in all the world's new fashion planted,
That hath a mint of phrases in his brain."*

Millsaps, '17, '18, Medical Club, '19, '20; Glee Club.

A capable man with a "piercing and discerning eye." One who idles not, but toils the whole day through.

OLLE MISS

EDMUND M. COWART, M. D.
Water Valley, Miss.

*"A combination, and a form, indeed,
Where every god did seem to set his seal,
To give the world assurance of a man."*

Red and Bule Club; Senior Dance Committee; Varsity Football '17, '18, '19; Captain Football Team '19; "M" Club; President Medical Club; Bone Dry Club; Yellow Dog Club; Y. M. C. A. Council '17, '18; University Orchestra, '17, '18, '19.

A diligent student, an aggressive football player, and a popular man. His only weakness is his handsome face, and that bothers him not at all.

SEBRON C. CULPEPPER, M. D.
Wiggins, Miss.

*"For just experience tells, in every soil,
That those that think must govern those that toil."*

American Legion; Y. M. C. A. Council; Scrub Baseball '18; Medical Club; Red and Blue Club; Senior Dance Committee; Taylor Medal in Biology.

The favorite of the professors and the ladies. A man to pattern after in dress, and to envy in looks. A popular and industrious student.

JOHN PRESTON DAVIS, M. D.
Saltillo, Miss.

"Thanks to Him who first invented work."

Phi Sigma '17, '18; Glee Club; Y. M. C. A. '16-'20; Y. M. C. A. Council '18; Medical Club '19, '20.

A man of few words and wistful yearnings. A steady supporter of the Standard Oil Company, as his grades testify.

SARA RUTH DEAN, M. D.
Greenwood, Miss.

*"Well read in poetry and other books—good ones
I warrant ye."*

Reporter Greek Club, '17, '18, '19, '20; Secretary-Treasurer Pre-Medical Class. Secretary-Treasurer Junior Medical Class. Honor Council, '19, '20; Mississippian Staff, '17, '18, '19, '20; Medical Club; G. M. C. U. L.; President of Alpha Theta '20.

One of our future M. D.'s. A girl with a pleasing personality, and keen intellect. Her only failing is writing love sonnets.

*"If she will she will you may depend on it,
And if she won't she won't so this is the end on 't."*

President Honor Council '20; G. M. C. U. L.; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Secretary Y. W. C. A.; Greek Club; Medical Club; Secretary Senior Medical Class; Vice-President of Alpha Theta Literary Society '20.

A girl whose delight is to excel her classmates. A young lady of many attainments whose only weakness is reading her classmates sonnets.

JAMES OTIS GORDON, M. D.
Daleville, Miss.

*"My only books were woman's books.
And folly's all they've taught me."*

B. S. Mississippi College, 1918. Senior Athletic Reporter '20; Varsity Football, 19, '20; "M" Club '19, '20; Masonic Club; A. A. A. H.

A man who combines good sense with good nature and with a laugh that would make the welkins ring in sympathy. Very popular and esteemed among the student body.

JAMES ARTHUR JOHNSON, M. D.
Tula, Miss.

"Joy, temperance and repose, Slam the door on the doctor's nose."

Medical Club '19, '20.

A man who talks little, but does a great deal. Modest in demeanor and calm in his self assurance. A promising future lies before this Doctor.

IRA FULTON JONES, M. D.
Hernando, Miss.

"Is this that haughty gallant, gay Lothario?"

Hermacan; Yellow Dogs; Medical Club; "Ole Miss" Staff '19; Y. M. C. A. Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '19; Crow's Nest Club; American Legion.

A lover of beauty wherever he finds it. A capable, dependable, and hard working lad—and a merry one.

OLE MISS

ROBERT ALEXANDER KIMBROUGH, M. D.

A merry noise-maker when there is nothing to do, but when work is in sight he does it. A giant in physique, but a dwarf in his resistance to the charms of his fair acquaintances.

ROBERT E. SCHWARTZ, M. D.

Sumrall, Miss.

"I, thus neglecting worldly ends, all dedicated To closeness and the bettering of my mind."

B. S. University of Mississippi, 1919; Ole Miss Board of Control '19; Y. M. C. A. Council '19; President of Senior Medical Class '20.

His belief in Ole Miss is aptly shown by the fact that he brought his younger brother with him, and his success in both literary and medical work is one that should cause him to feel justly proud.

JAMES S. THRELKELD, M. D.

Saltillo, Miss.

"He conquers by diligent effort and constant perseverance."

Medical Club '19, '20.

A thorough student who puts his heart into his work, on the theory that the more he puts into it the more he will get out. A man worth watching.

NORMAN LESLIE REAGAN, M. D.

University, Miss.

*"Never too late to make a beginning,
Honest effort proclaims a satisfactory ending."*

Vice President Senior Medical Class.

A studious man and a hard worker. One who will always get the most out of life. A pleasing word for all whom he meets and a jolly good fellow when all is said.

Evolution of Medical Class 1920

(DEDICATED TO THE MEDICAL FACULTY)

1918

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
Brainless little mass.
Counting things we didn't know,
Strange that we could pass!

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
Shunning stimuli,
Never dreaming that we could
Evolute so high.

1919

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
Tropic in the main;
Now we've far surpassed you,
For we have a brain.

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
Teaching brought us here.
Experience is worth much,
Nothing is so dear.

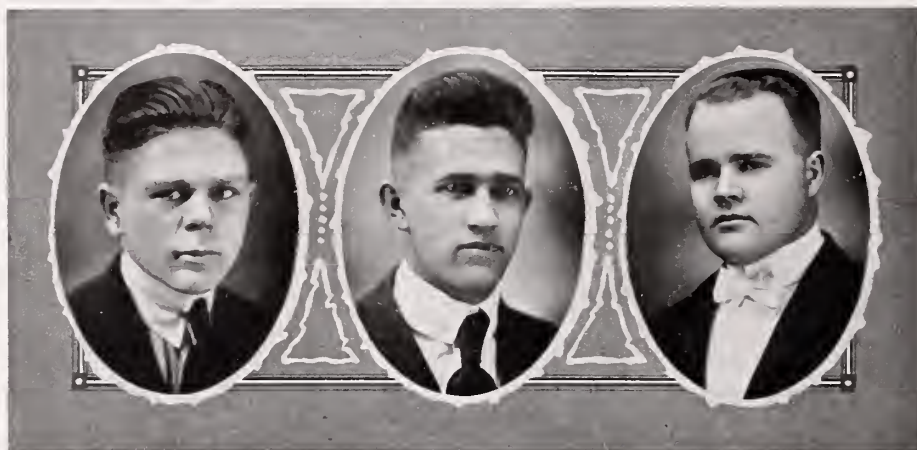

1920

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
All—each girl and boy,
Simple in our reflexes,
Now, we've psychic Joy.

Little Amoeba, we were, as you were,
Sadly we relate,
Education's hard to get,
Having it is great.

Almost every college honor has been thrust upon the back of this unprotesting student. Brilliant in intellect and upright in conduct he has made an excellent model for many a student.

College Life

The lights are on; the screen becomes alive;
Bold figures strong with manly grace appear;
Awhile they hold the view, and then pass out
To be no more recalled. Faint shadow-shapes
Of others blur the screen, all indistinct.
Perchance a figure, frailer than the rest
Unnoticed by his fellows, sinks amid
The throng. And so they come and go.

The lights are on; and now again are off,
The Faithful hand if ever o'er the film.
The old machine fulfils its destiny
Of work. And now another reel goes on,
And other figures come within the view;
Pass in and out—and soon another reel
Puts on its shifting personnel.

K. B.

History of the Senior Law Class

HE Senior Law Class of 1920 is composed of the survivors of the Junior classes of 1916, '17, '18 and '19. Thus it is evident that we have not all been associated for two years. However this may be, we were thrown together, and have worked together this year. It was during this year that we formed lasting friendships, that will bind us together and hold us close to one another always.

In all college activities we have tried to do our part. In athletics we did our part, giving to the baseball team one of the best pitchers the University has ever known—D. W. Holmes. In the Y. M. C. A. we were recognized as leaders, and in the literary societies there were none that could surpass the members of the Senior Law Class of '20. We furnished men for the inter-collegiate debates who upheld the success of their class, as was characteristic of everything we undertook. In all the college activities the class was an important factor.

We will soon go forth to bless the world, I hope, with an uplift of higher ideals of American manhood. We are proud of our profession, and we hope to be an honor to it. As has been said by one of our leading jurists: "while it is cheap wit for many to say sneering things about our profession, yet if you strike from the Anglo Saxon history the thoughts and deeds of lawyers, you rob it of more than half its glory. Blot from American society today the lawyer, and all work that he does, and all the power that he exerts, and you leave society as dry and shifting as the sands that sweep over the Sahara. For the mystic force that binds our civilization together, and makes possible its success and glories is the law, and they who minister at its shrine, and keep alive its sacred fires as you and I, and that vast multitude of co-workers who boast of no higher title than that of a lawyer."

Where there are no lawyers there is no law, and where there is no law there is no civilization. The good that lawyers do is a part of the every day occurrences of life, and, therefore, a part of all the conditions which make life worth living.

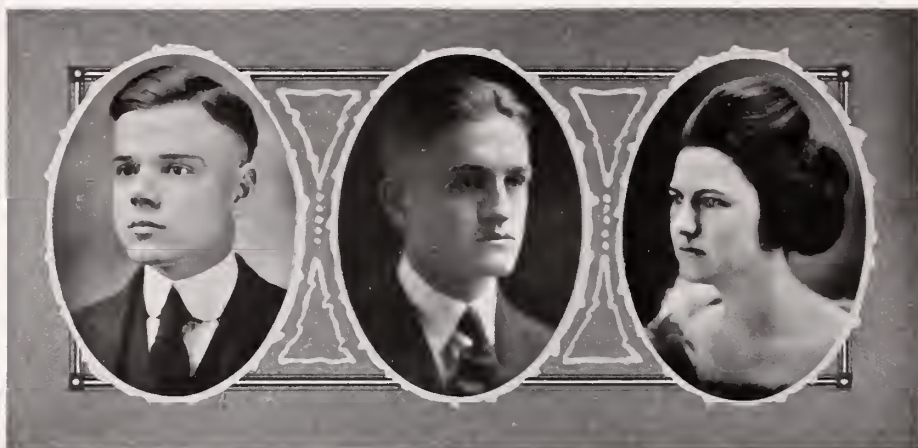

The lawyer, in every honestly pressed lawsuit, is seeking to bring about a condition where one man's rights are brought into the proper relationship with his fellows and the State.

The Senior Class of 1920 is composed of men who have studied their profession, mastered its details, who realize the duties it imposes upon them and who will give to the discharge of those duties energy directed by a good conscience. We shall not lose sight of the dignity of our profession and the obligations which its exalted duties impose.

We, the members of the Senior Class of '20, will go forth with a determination to conduct ourselves as consecrated priests of justice, ready to serve at its altars with clean hands and white robes.

Senior Engineering Class History

ISTORY is a systematic, written account of events. Unfortunately for the class of '20 the war and math prevented our history from being as systematic as it could have been.

In the fall of '16 Dean Dorroh was confronted by twenty-seven ambitious young Freshmen. Evidently he decided they were too numerous, for the weeding-out process was begun immediately. At any rate in our senior year only four of the original twenty-seven remain, the rest having answered the Nation's call or were forced to leave by circumstances which they could not control. Some, it is true, decided that Engineering was not the proper profession for them when they struck Sophomore and Junior math.

McDowell and Murphy joined us in the fall of '19 having recently returned from service overseas and having previously taken the first three years of study.

Our lessons have been difficult to prepare, our laboratory hours tediously long and our vacations few and short it seems to us. But after having successfully passed through Math, Mechanics, Physics and Reinforced Concrete we are conscious of a feeling of intense satisfaction at having done so and are confident as regards the future.

Our life has not been one continual round of study and other hardships but we have had pleasures much the same as other people. We have taken part in athletics, the literary societies, and have even danced a little, especially our "Shimmying Wonder" Flynt. "Bill" McDowell can chew more tobacco than any man on the campus. "Hooks" Linder has learned to take medicine (of the Pepsinol variety) and "Rubie" Parks is a regular old he-vampire. "Pat" Murphy, though he doesn't sing in the Glee Club, has an immense volume to his voice and "Mose" Moser says he can do it.

On the whole, our four years at Ole Miss have been pleasant indeed. We have received a thorough education in all phases of college life and we are grateful to our professors and Alma Mater for this. We hope as we bid Ole Miss good-bye that we will merit the motto that we adopted as freshman, "the class of '20 is better than any."

History of Senior Pharmacy Class

"Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers."

N the month of October, 1918, there were gathered at the School of Pharmacy of the University of Mississippi thirty-four students—all aspirants for the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy. We set forth to toil along a rugged path of joy and pleasant plight inspired with self-determination for the things that constitute the higher elements of renowned Pharmacy.

Vigor that is born of will manifested itself when in the fall of 1919, fifteen enrolled, but lately one interpreted a vision, yet how beautiful, and answered the alluring call of Cupid.

Taking up a more systematic study of Pharmacy and the professional art of compounding, we acquired a Senior dignity, growing sedate and unapproachable. Having set a standard, in every respect which will be impossible for any other class to surpass, we will achieve fame in our careers if fortune smiles on us for,

"Internal remedies" say some, "will make that keen pain fade"

We'll brew about a ton of convallaria-rootade.

"A poultice strong of youth," say some, "your anguish will allay,

'Tis not so hot you'll be heard ten parasangs away."

A chosen fourteen of the original number have become well fitted to practice their profession, and they, fully realizing and appreciating the arduous tasks before them, feel confident of being equal to every occasion.

Freshman

"A rag and a bone and a hank of hair,"
Wrote Kipling about Woman, you know—
A mystery she was and a mystery she'll be
It matters not where you go.

But a greater mystery than Woman is known,
A species unequalled by any,
Only in colleges you find these things,
But the number of IT,—oh, many!

Verdant; green as the grass they are,
They stay for a whole season
Hopelessly ignorant, they can't hide it you see,
They are here without rhyme or without reason.

"Shower bath tickets" they always want,
And sometimes with shivering knees
They go to one of the wiser almighties,
And ask for "a campus ticket, please!"

But give them credit for what they do,
And they do the best they CAN.
Now ain't it hard to b'lieve a President,
Was once just a poor Freshman!

Aim: To promote good fellowship.

Purpose: To cultivate a love for rambling and to provide mutual instruction and amusement for members.

Motto: The world is our oyster.

Flower: Rambling rose.

Requisite for membership:

Five thousand miles without a red,
The floor of a box-car for a bed,
In some kind dame's kitchen freely fed;
A pretty good fellow when all is said.

PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION

History of the Pharmaceutical Association

HARMACY is the science which treats of medicinal substances. It comprehends not only a knowledge of medicines and the art of preparing and dispensing them, but also their identification, selection, preservation, combination, and analysis.

In as much as all Nature, animate and inanimate, has been laid under contribution to provide remedies for the alleviation of disease, it follows that those sciences which embrace a knowledge of substances obtained from the vegetable, mineral and animal kingdoms, as well as those which treat of the laws governing them, are called on to furnish important facts which forms the basis of the science of Pharmacy.

The study of Pharmacy covers a vast area as may be judged from the various branches as follows: botany, mineralogy, zoology, physics, materia medica, toxicology, the many branches of Chemistry, and the study of Pharmacy proper. Thus it was, realizing that Pharmacy is an art and not a trade, that the Pharmaceutical Association of the University of Mississippi was organized to combat within our state the tendency of drug-store apprentices to become tradesmen, rather than uphold the dignity of the art by first obtaining a thorough Pharmaceutical education.

The association was originally organized in the opening session of 1917-'18, comprising all classes in the department of Pharmacy, meeting bi-monthly to discuss modern developments in the Pharmaceutical world. Much work was accomplished during the ensuing scholastic year. At the beginning of the next session, owing to the patriotic enlistments into the military service of practically every member of the junior and senior classes, the association was left without leaders, and therefore no active work was done. However, at the opening session of 1919-20 the work was re-organized with much vim, becoming affiliated with the National Pharmaceutical Association, holding interesting meetings at regular intervals to study the development and progress of the science, endeavoring to raise the planes and standards within our immediate state. Securing for itself the recognition it deserves, as that of one of the leading professions of the modern time, since so often life or death hangs on the balance on the fractional part of one grain. Thus requiring the educated wisdom of the educated Pharmacist as to its dosage and use.

Every member of the association both male and female is deeply interested in their life's chosen vocation. Progressive and intelligent; working for a better era in this science. A genuine humanitarian is within the heart of every member, with a desire to alleviate pain and sickness from their fellowmen.

So, as we graduate from our venerable Alma Mater, going forth to work out our art thru the nation, you, as well as we, may be glad of the knowledge gained by our members both in classes, and in the purpose of our organization.

A black and white group portrait of nine people, likely a theatrical troupe, posed in two rows against a dark background. The back row consists of five men in suits, and the front row consists of four people, including three men and one woman, dressed in period clothing. The man in the center of the front row has a mustache and is wearing a suit. The woman on the far right of the front row is wearing a dark dress with a white collar. The man on the far right of the back row is wearing a suit and tie. The overall composition is formal and professional.

SIMPSON COUNTY CLUB

I seized her in my longing arms
 And to my bosom drew her;
 Unable to shun her drawing charms,
 When first I 'gan to woo her.
 Her eyes were like the Devon Spring,
 Her voice, the Nightingale;
 As when at night he 'gins to sing,
 Beneath the moonlight pale.
 Her hair was lustrous silky black,
 Her lips, the rainbow's red;
 As when the sun 'gins peeping back,
 And all the clouds are fled.
 She had a truly regal air,
 She had a form divine,
 And e'en with Venus might compare,
 In other eyes than mine.
 But now she's left my longing arms,
 And all my love was vain.
 For she is gone with all her charms,
 Also—my watch and chain.

Haunting Memories

A haunting pang of loneliness and pain;
A thought of might-have-beens, and faint regret;
The moonlight gleaming softly through the leaves—
All these still bring you back—yes, even yet.

The wireless speech between fond lovers' eyes;
The subdued fragrance of the evening flower;
The distant whistling of a quaint old air—
Still bring you back to me—with subtle power.

The whippoorwill's sad note at twilight time;
The sweetened sorrow in a face, tear-wet;
A heart-break sobbing from a violin—
All bring you back—it seems I can't forget!

To a Co-ed

The dawn herself could not more beauty wear
Than you 'mid other women crowned in grace,
Nor have the sages known a fairer face
Than yours, gold-shadowed by your bright sweet hair
Than you does Venus seem less heavenly fair;
The twilit hidden stillness of your eyes,
And throat, a singing bridge of still replies,
A slender bridge, yet all dreams hover there.

I could have turned unmoved from Helen's brow,
Who found no beauty in their Beatrice;
Their Thais seemed less lovely then as now,
Though some had bartered Athens for her kiss.
For down Time's arras, faint and fair and far,
Your face still beckons like a lonely star.

LUCILE MORGAN—HERSELF

By Herself

My name is Morgan but my father was not "J. P." If your readers insist upon knowing when and where I was born you may simply state that my home is now in Memphis, Tennessee, and that altho that state has equal suffrage, I have never voted.

I think "Ole Miss" is simply darling and don't see how anyone could find it boring. Of course I can understand how those who fail in their work might get discouraged, but there is no reason for anyone to fail who is willing to burn the proverbial midnight oil. But I never dance later than 3:30 A. M., and I think that hour quite late enough for any student of ordinary ability.

RUTH DEAN—HERSELF

By Herself

I believe the first thing in a biography is to state when and where you were born, and that's hardly fair, is it? Suffice is to say that I was born in Greenville, Mississippi.

My likes and dislikes are very pronounced. I don't like cheese. I do like poetry. My favorite song is "Bubbles."

Really, I am not becoming a physician in order to get rich. I simply realize that knowledge is power, and I want power,—power to understand the human heart. I have mastered the workings of the little instrument called stethoscope and am in position to understand fully the true condition of every masculine heart that may be offered me.

MYRTLE RAMEY FILLS OUT QUESTIONNAIRE

Q. 1.—What is your name? A.—Myrtle Ramey, at present.

Q. 2.—When and where were you born? A.—When I was quite small at Hushpuckena, Miss.

Q. 3.—Who were your mother and father? A.—Mr. and Mrs. Ramey.

Q. 8.—Can you sew? A.—Seemingly.

Q. 9.—Do you bake? A.—Sometimes, but I carry a parasol in summer.

Q. 10.—Have you ever been charged with anything serious? A.—Only soda water.

REMARKS: Yes, frequently.

Myrtle Ramey—"Oh, I'm so happy!"

BABE MARKETTE—Herself By Herself

I mean no harm to the Baby Grand when I box its ears. We understand each other perfectly—at least I'm sure it understands me for the response is always cheerful and free. I began by learning the scales. Afterwards I became so proficient that I thought every kind of instrument would respond to my touch, but have been disillusioned. My uncle has a pair of scales in his store on which he weighs chickens. I am scarcely able to make it register—try as I may with both feet.

I am anxious to grow up so that I can see what is on the top of all the pretty tables.

MRS. PEEBLES—Herself By Herself

I am a would-be lawyer. I came from Macon, Mississippi; am the youngest of nine, and spent the first ten years of my life in the usual way—making mud pies, building frog-houses, and climbing trees.

I then grew up, acquired dignity, and lost it again. I have tried everything from school teaching up to getting married. I don't know how well I succeed with the former, but I am trying to make a great success of the latter.

The height of my ambition is to have my husband introduced to a National Convention as "The Husband of Mrs. Peebles." I am very tender hearted, and if, when I become a judge, he should ever become a prisoner at the bar, I know that it will be an occasion of "justice tempered with mercy."

YI CHEEK—Herself By Herself.

Not many years ago a little baby girl was born in south Mississippi who was christened by her fond parents "Mary Eliza Cheek." It was I. But Mary Eliza was such a big sounding name for such a small person that my sisters promptly shortened it to "YI" which is far more fitting.

I have a great ambition to be a teacher, if only I knew how. My joy would be complete if I could become Dean of Women right here at Ole Miss when Mrs. Eatman is ready to retire.

ADDIE McCAIN—Herself

By Herself.

Why all this fuss over a girl who happens to have a qualification that she couldn't avoid? I may have merited the title "literary," but if so—it is because my work is my passion and it has been easier for me to make grades than not to make them. A good part of my study, I confess, has had a serious purpose behind it. I expect to put the knowledge I have acquired at "Ole Miss" to good use sometime.

At one time I fully expected to become a "school marm." Later I was completely obsessed with the idea of becoming a lawyer, and could fancy myself addressing the jury in my deep, resonant voice; or as a judge on the bench—like some old time justice of the peace—commanding: "Order in de court." And I be's de co't."

But, like my friend from Possum Trot who gave up his ambition to become a song writer, because he could buy them cheaper than he could write them, I have given up the idea of studying law because I think it would be easier to acquire it Via Matrimoniam.

MRS. EATMAN

In Appreciation

The Co-Eds feel that the path of college life would have been far rougher had it not been for the tender guidance of Mrs. Eatman. Her unfailing wisdom and kindness have smoothed the "bumps" and helped us over the rough places; her wonderful personality has been an inspiration to every one of us; her influence has shown itself in the life of every Co-ed in Rick's Hall. As a mark of our love for her, we dedicate this page to Mrs. Eatman, our "college mother."

COACH SULLIVAN

Among the soldiers returning from France was one R. L. Sullivan, who immediately took the position of head coach at the University of Mississippi. Sullivan is well known throughout the South, because of his ability as a coach, and Ole Miss was unusually fortunate in securing his services. On arriving here Coach immediately began football practice. The team he turned out was light and inexperienced, but before the season was over it was recognized as the fastest and grittiest team, and had the best record of any team that Ole Miss had turned out in a long time. The basketball team was one of the best in the South, and this was due almost entirely to the efforts of Coach Sullivan.

Besides being an efficient coach and being liked by the boys on the field, Sullivan holds the esteem and friendship of the faculty and of the students as a whole. He is one of the boys, knows everyone, and takes part in all the student activities. We trust Mississippi may be fortunate enough to retain his services for years to come.

OLE MISS

OLE MISS

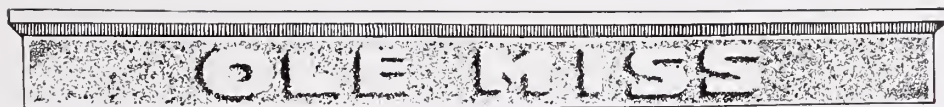

ASSISTANT COACH BOBO

In the by-gone days Bobo was a terror to all Ole Miss students—when he wore the maroon and white of A. & M. This year, however, he helped Coach Sullivan put out a winning football team. The previous experience which he had received in the game, coupled with natural leadership and ability, made him an ideal man for the position of assistant coach. He is well liked by both the students and players, and is a man for whom the team will work hard all the time. Bobo's special work was coaching the scrubs, and he turned out a fighting, scrapping, well-trained team that made the Varsity fight to uphold itself. We will be fortunate if we can secure the services of Bobo for the next football season.

MANAGER CURD

Curd is one of the best managers the Ole Miss football team has ever had. He takes a real interest in the work, is a good financier, and is with the team wherever it goes. Curd is very popular with the players, and always sees to their welfare wherever they may be. A great deal of the credit for the successful season is due to the untiring efforts of Manager Curd. No better man could have been found to aid Coach Sullivan in attending to the finances of the team. All these things united to make him an ideal manager.

CAPTAIN COWART

Captain Cowart came to the University from Marion Institute and since his arrival here he has been instrumental in making a reputation for Mississippi's football team. He has been a Varsity man for three years, and these three years he has rendered very valuable services to the Ole Miss team. Quiet, unassuming, Ed Cowart justly deserves to lead the team, and he lead it in the most satisfactory manner possible. Cowart is one of the best ends that has ever been at the University, and his style of play at that position cannot be bettered. He is a deadly tackler, exceptionally good on breaking up interference, and he has never been known to miss a forward pass. Cowart is the most consistent player on the team and he works hard from the beginning of the first quarter to the last.

He graduates this year, and the University will lose one of the best football players she has ever produced.

MEMBERS OF THE FOOTBALL SQUAD

Standing—Coach Sullivan, George, Thompson, Ray, Gordon, Jiggitts, Creekmore, Gardner, Haralson, Farmer, Assistant Coach Bobo, Manager Curd.
 Kneeling—Scott, Davidson, McVey, Feemster, Lake, Barber, Callahan, Miller, Riddell, Robinson.
 Sitting—Bobo, McDaniels, Carney, Cowart (Capt.) Ratcliffe, Denman, Morris, Alexander.

OLE MISS

C. E. FARMER, Guard

Farmer was elected the laziest man on the campus, but there is one time when he works and works hard; that time is in a football game. Em first played football at Mississippi College, but amended his wrong doings and finally landed at Ole Miss. He covers his position well, is fast, and full of the old pep that is so necessary to a good football player. Few gains are ever made over Em Farmer, because he has always broken thru the line and nabbed the man before he could get started. He will be here next year, and everyone is expecting great things of him.

CALVIN BARBOUR, Half-Back

Altho minute in stature Barbour came thru the season with honors he certainly deserved. He was the best broken field runner on the the field, the best in the state, and there were few better in Dixie. He is gritty, scrappy, a good tackler, and can always be depended on to make a good gain. Barbour was at his best in the L. S. U. and A. & M. games, and to watch him run is good for the eyes. He has always shown the spirit of the University of Mississippi, and his return here next year will be eagerly looked forward to.

J. O. GORDON, Guard

Crip first played football at Mississippi College, but came to Ole Miss to study medicine and so we gained a valuable man. Crip is especially good at charging the line and opening up holes, and few gains were made over him this season. He played in every game of the season, and the few minutes he was out were in the easy games, to give the scrubs a chance. Crip's middle name was "fight," and this spirit was shown in the Tulane game, when he had two teeth knocked down his throat, and was jarred from head to foot, but would not get out of the game. Crip graduates this year.

OLE MISS

E. H. RAY, Tackle

Red hails from over in Alabama and since coming to Ole Miss he has made a host of friends. He was captain of last year's team, and lead his charges to victory in several games. Ray is powerfully built, he is the hardest tackle on the team, and is a terror on charging the line. Tough as pig-iron itself—it seems he never gets hurt, but when he dives into an opponent "time out" is usually called for the other fellow. Red showed up especially good this year in the A. & M. game, and it was very seldom that any gains were made on his side of the line. This is Red's third and last year on the team as he graduates in the Spring.

H. D. ROBINSON, Full-Back

Santa Claus was still in Uncle Sam's Marine Corps when football season opened, but as soon as he was discharged, he made his appearance at the University. Robinson has all the driving power necessary for a fullback, and he puts it into action. He hits the line like a cannonball and his onslaught is like that of an enraged bull. Although he usually loses some skin off his nose, he always makes his gain. His first football was played at Ole Miss in 1917, under Coach Noble, and since then he has gained in weight and experience. Santa will be with us next season.

S. H. BOWERS, Quarter-Back

Sam first came to Ole Miss from Gulfport High School, where he played half-back for several years, and came into the limelight all along the coast as a good football player. After playing here during the 1917 season he went with the American Forces overseas, and besides killing the Boche he also played football with the division team. He was welcomed back this year and proved to be a very valuable man. He is speedy, a good broken field runner, a hard tackler, and a good general. We hope to see him back next year.

OLE MISS

L. M. JIGGITS, Half-Back

Jiggitts, speed-merchant, broken field runner, student, and a Rhodes Scholar, was elected the best all-round athlete in school, and this was mainly on account of his prowess on the gridiron. Jiggitts is a product of the Canton High School and chose the University as the place for continuing his studies and athletic career. He actually does the 100 yds. in ten seconds flat, and during the past season his remarkable speed has brought sorrow upon the heads of his opponents. Jiggitts leaves in the summer for Oxford, England and he will be greatly missed at Ole Miss next year.

R. H. CREEKMORE, Center

Another product of Marion and of Water Valley, who has played Varsity football for the last two seasons. At center he was sturdy and dependable, a sure and hard tackler, and a terror to his opponents. He is an exceptionally good passer at center, and his defensive work was good in every respect. Creekmore played in every game of the season and his best work was probably in the L. S. U. and Mississippi College games. He has been chosen to lead the team for next year and will be here for another season.

L. B. MORRIS, Full-Back

Morris is rather small for his position but he showed opposing teams that it does not take size to make a fullback. He was able to rip open big lines almost at will. Fast, and gifted with a certain twisting and twirling motion, he fairly slipped through his opponents. Morris was the first man of the season to cross Tulane's goal-line and the exhibition he gave that day of line bucking made the spectators and opposing players look askance. Morris had the knack of using his head and picking his holes and so his gains were numerous during the season. Morris is a Senior and will not be with us next season.

OLE MISS

J. H. FEEMSTER, Tackle

Freshman Feemster was one of the most valuable men on the Ole Miss team the past year. He is fast, heavy, and full of pep. His tackling could not be better and other teams seldom made gains over him. He played a wonderful game against A. & M. and deserves credit for his excellent work there. In the L. S. U. game he played half of the game after three of his ribs had been broken and he did not want to get out of the game then. Feemster has three more years to play football at Ole Miss and before he leaves he will be one of the best tackles in the South.

R. H. LAKE, Half-Back

Lake is a product of Lena Haxton's Greenville football team—the team that won the State High School championship. This is Lake's second year on the team and he did good work all through the season. Lake is fast and a good tackler, and did splendid work on backing up the line. Lake is our man for forward passes and he is hard to beat at this line of work. Lake was at a disadvantage part of the season on account of injuries but this handicapped him only for a few games. Lake will be with us again next season and will be a very valuable man.

A. P. GEORGE, Guard

George played his first football at Ole Miss in 1917, and came into the limelight that year by intercepting a forward pass in the L. S. U. game and running sixty yards for a touchdown. Since this time he has been gaining football knowledge and experience and putting it into practice. He is a hard player, fast on getting down the field, and seldom misses a tackle. George can always be depended on to be in the game from start to finish and is mixed up in every play. We hope to see him with us next season.

OLE MISS

A. B. CARNEY, Quarter-Back

Carney first made his debut in football with the University Scrubs in 1916. So he was schooled in the hard life of the scrub and has since become one of the most valuable men on the team. A. B. is a fast man, hard to stop and has proven to be a good quarterback. He ran the team like a veteran and he could always be depended upon to run the right play at the right time. He is always in the game, full of fight, and is hard to hurt. We lose him this year by graduation.

B. O. McDANIELS, End

Possum, as he is known around the campus, is likely to become one of the best ends in the South before he leaves the University. This is his second year on the team, having had his previous experience with Oxford High. Possum is a good tackler and has the old fight with him all the time. He played exceptionally well in the A. & M. game and it was his watchfulness that won the game with Mississippi College when he recovered a fumble behind their goal line. Next season Possum will be here again and will continue his good work at end.

T. H. RIDDELL, Center

Riddell, besides being the head song bird on all the trips, found time to do his part towards winning the games. He is the best all round man on the team and can hold down any position. Riddell is fast, a hard fighter, and never misses a tackle. He showed up especially well in the Alabama game when he took Captain Cowart's place and after Cowart was knocked out. He is equally good at passing the ball at Center, or receiving it on the end. This is Riddell's first year here and he will make a good man next year in the center of the line.

OLE MISS

W. P. GARDNER, Guard

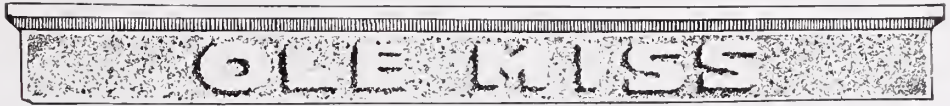

This is Gardner's first year of football at the University, but he acquitted himself with much credit. Gardner is a product of the Tupelo High School and while there he played stellar football. Gardner is heavy, fast, and aggressive and was one of the best line men we had this season. Gardner was unfortunate in sustaining a sprained ankle, along the middle of the season but his fighting spirit would not let that bother him, so he went right on. This is Gardner's freshman year so he has three more years to play and he will be a ram at tackle before coach Sullivan finishes with him.

P. G. DAVIDSON, End

This is Davidson's first year of football at Ole Miss but he has proven his worth as a good man. Davidson is fast, gets down under punts well, and can be depended upon to either spill the interference or get the man himself. His best work was in the A. & M. game when he relieved Captain Cowart who was taken out on account of injuries. Davidson is good on receiving passes and always plays hard from start to finish. Davidson has three more years to play and will be with us again next year.

R. W. THOMPSON, Guard

Thompson is playing his first year at the University but he is playing with all the fight and assurance of a veteran. He is heavy, fast, and always has a hole for the man carrying the ball. The tackles he misses are few and he never lets up in fighting. The next two years will find Thompson here with added weight and experience, and in him opposing players will have a man to watch.

Review of the 1919 Football Season

ATTLING against overwhelming odds in almost every game of the season, the football eleven of 1919 hung up a record, which, although not flattering from the standpoint of victories, yet was entirely satisfactory to the student body and to the alumni and supporters of Ole Miss. Four victories and four defeats were the results of the season's play.

On looking over the football material, Coach Sullivan found the majority of the men were very light and many were green and inexperienced. Taking this material and working untiringly with it, Coach turned out the lightest, but one of the fastest football teams in Dixie. It was a team which although defeated was never beaten and did not know the word quit.

Serious injuries to the men were a great source of trouble. Early in the season Ray suffered a dislocated shoulder which put him out of the game for a time. Feemster was badly hurt the next week in a scrimmage with the scrubs. Then came the L. S. U. game and it tore the team wide open. On top of this Captain Cowart sprained his ankle very badly. The A. & M. game left us in a badly bruised and battered condition. In spite of these injuries the team kept on and as soon as good training could get the men in condition they were back in the game.

Ole Miss opened the season, as usual, by playing the Jonesboro Aggies on the campus. The Farmers were easily defeated by a 32 to 0 score.

The following Saturday the team journeyed to Alabama. The "Thin Red Line" did not prove to be quite so thin and we were defeated 49-0. After a week's reprieve the Red and Blue warriors met the strong L. S. U. team at Baton Rouge. Though outweighed twenty-five pounds to the man Ole Miss fought fiercely and the Tigers were unable to score until the last quarter. The final score was 13-0.

The next game was with Tulane and on Oct. 24 Coach Sullivan invaded Crescent City. For the first time of the season Tulane's goal line was crossed. The game was hard fought but the boys in Olive and Yellow defeated us 26-12. The next Saturday Union University visited us and went home with the small end of a 25-6 score.

The game with A. & M. was played in Clarksdale on Nov. 8. We were defeated 33-0 but the game was hard fought from start to finish. After a week of inaction we were invaded by the heavy and experienced team from S. P. U. but they offered little difficulty and we won 33-0. The season closed on Thanksgiving day with a game with Mississippi College in the Capitol City. The preachers lost a hard fought game 6-0.

In many respects the 1919 team was the best Ole Miss has turned out in years. Six members of the team will not be back next year but the prospects for a good team are very bright.

The Scrub

All the bruises, all the kicks,
All the wallops, all the licks—
Blackened eye and loosened tooth—
Ah, I have blighted me youth.
I am the scrub!

Like a punch bag they use me,
The varsity all bruise me.
Fickle crowds they hoot me,—
Alas, someone please shoot me!
I am the scrub!

But I have a goal in front me,
And they may kick and punt me,
For one day an "M" will grace me—
You bet it's going' to brace me!
I am the scrub!

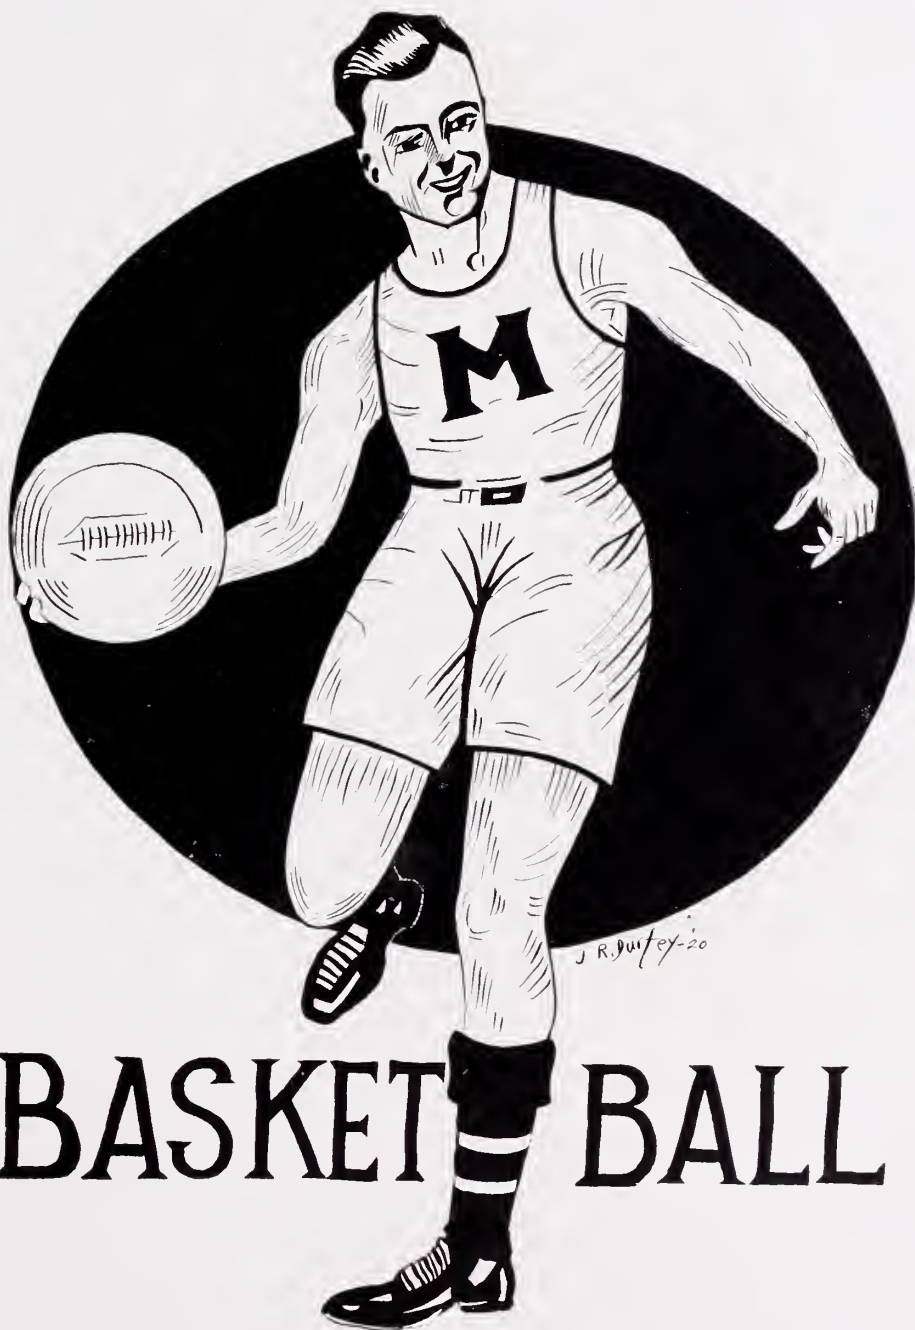

After times of bruise and kicks,
When I can return some licks,
Won't it be gran', when SHE takes hold my han',
And says, "Oh, Willie you're a Varsity man!
I am the scrub!

BASKET BALL

OLE MISS

CAPTAIN MORRIS

Morris was an ideal man to captain this year's basketball team. He is a good basketball player and has the leadership and ability to fill the position of captain. Morris played one of the guard positions and did so in a very creditable manner. He sticks with his man like a leech and never gives him a clear shot at the goal. Nevertheless he can do his part at making goals when there is a fair chance. Morris is always in the game, and playing a good game, not for personal honor and glory but for the team and for Ole Miss. Morris is well liked by both players and students and we are sorry to lose him for next year.

OLE MISS

MEMBERS BASKET BALL SQUAD

Top Row: Harper, Green, McDaniels, Summers, Lester, Rape.
 Bottom Row: Coach Sullivan, G. Ford, Henderson, Morris (Capt.) Scruggs, J. Ford, Mgr. Newsom.

OLE MISS

A. E. SCRUGGS, Guard

Scruggs is one of the best guards ever seen at the University of Mississippi. He never lets up on his man and has him out-classed and out-played at every moment of the game. He is a hard, fierce, fighter, fast and quick on his feet and never lets up until the whistle blows. Although a guard, he had his share of the field goals, and when he had a chance he seldom missed a goal. This is Scruggs' first year here but he has certainly proven his worth as a basketball player. We hope to see him back next year.

JOE FORD, Forward

Ford comes from Sullivan's Hollow, where basketball is taught with the primer, and he seems to have learned it equally as well. He shoots baskets from all angles and whenever the opposing guard lets up for an instant he has a goal. Ford is a steady, reliable player, and always works for the good of the team. We hope to see him back next year.

L. C. HENDERSON, Center

Henderson has more field goals to his credit than any other member of the team. At center he always played a good game, and his work there was exceptionally good. Very seldom does he miss a field goal, and the majority of Ole Miss points were made by him. Henderson can always be depended upon to do his part and his part is a big part. Henderson has one more year to play with us, and we look for him back next year.

W. G. FORD, Forward

G. Ford at the forward position proved to be one of the most valuable men on this year's team. He is fast, shoots goals well, and is good on passing the ball. He seldom misses a goal, and always covers his shots up well. It takes a good man to guard Ford, and in most of the games he outplayed his opponent in every respect. Ford will be with us again next year.

OLE MISS

C. E. RAPE, Forward

Rape is small but it does not take size to make a basketball player, and he has proven this fact very well. He is fast, quick, and agile, and keeps up and on his feet at all times. Rape is especially good on shooting goals and it also good on both long and short passes. Besides these good points he has plenty of fight and pep and keeps going all the time. Rape will be back next year.

B. O. McDANIELS, Guard

McDaniels at guard showed the same spirit and fight which he displayed on the football field. He sticks to his man never giving him a moment of peace, and never leaving him unguarded. This is Possum's second year on the team, and since he came here from the Oxford High School he has been steadily developing as a basketball player. Possum returns next year.

C. L. SUMNERS, Center

Sumners is an ideal man for the center position. He is tall, a good jumper, and covers his position well. He is good at goal shooting, passing the ball and guarding his opponent. Sumners has plenty of fight and if necessary he can rough it up with the opposing center. Sumners returns next year.

DRANE LESTER, Forward

This is Lester's first year on the team but he has proven his worth as a forward. He is exceptionally fast, shoots goals well, and is a good all round player. Lester was schooled in the hard life of a scrub last year so he learned to give and take hard knocks. Lester has one more year to play and we hope to see him on the basketball court again next year.

Review of the Season

WITH one of the best teams that has represented Ole Miss on the basketball court in several years, the Red and Blue quintette did much to restore the prestige that we have lost in the last four or five years. The season's results, as a whole, have been very gratifying and although we failed to win the state championship, the student body and the Ole Miss supporters look with pride upon the record the team has made. Nine victories and four defeats were the results of this season's schedule.

Coach Sullivan began the season with three veterans of last year's squad. Around these men he built a wonderful offensive and defensive team and one that asserted the Ole Miss spirit in every game. Just before the first game of the season Coach Sullivan finally selected the team as follows: Morris, Guard (Capt.); Scruggs, guard; Henderson, center; J. Ford, forward; G. Ford, forward; Rape, forward; Lester, forward; McDaniels, guard; and Sumners, center.

Ole Miss opened the season on Jan. 21, with Union University on the local floor. The Red and Blue warriors had no trouble in winning 40-10. On Jan. 31 the team journeyed to Jackson, Tenn. Sullivan's men were defeated by the Jackson "Y" 22-39 but were victorious the following night and defeated Union 38-24.

For the first time in several years the Red and Blue quintette trounced the Maroon and White gladiators of A & M, score 23-10, but lost to the cowpunchers the following night 15-21. These two games were the best that have ever been witnessed on the local court. Howard College, on Feb. 13, bowed to the superior basket shooting of the Red and Blue, leaving with the small end of a 31-11 score. The purple and white tossers of Mill-saps were the next to taste defeat by Sullivan's men, Ole Miss running away with both games, scores 60-15 and 58-18. The next week, Coach Sullivan invaded the Delta, defeating the strong Clarksdale's "Y" team 45-15.

The following week the Red and Blue Quintette traveled to the Capitol City and again administered the bitter medicine of defeat to Millsaps, by 25-21 score. The next night Mississippi College bowed their head to the speedy Ole Miss team, and lost 27-12. The season ended on March 5th and 6th by a series of two games with A. & M. on their home court. We lost both games, 13-49 and 12-30.

Every man on the squad deserves credit for the fine showing which the Red and Blue five made. Henderson deserves especial credit, scoring the largest number of individual points. Captain Morris, Scruggs, and the Ford brothers, all deserve honorable mention. To Coach Sullivan goes the biggest part of the credit, for, by his untiring effort he developed a smooth working team, and developed the style of play.

Altho the season started late, it has been one of the most successful we have had in years. With every Varsity man next year, except Capt. Morris, we are looking for a championship team.

CAPTAIN ROWSEY

When the Ole Miss Track Team selected Rowsey to lead them through the 1920 season they made no mistake. It would be hard to find a man who could fill the place more admirably than he. Rowsey is a good track man, has leadership and ability and is well liked by everyone. He was one of the four men who represented Ole Miss in the S. I. A. A. track meet last spring, and although we did not win the cup—yet the record was not one to be ashamed of. With such good material out this year, and with prospects of a good team to back him up, Rowsey will take a team to the track meet that will make itself known. This is Rowsey's last year at Ole Miss, and he will be greatly missed next year—both on the field and on the campus.

CAPTAIN CARNEY

Little Joe Evans persuaded Blythe Carney that he could pitch and since that time Carney has been on the mound for Ole Miss. He was elected captain for this year's team and no better man could have been found to fill the place. He is the type of man who is popular with all the students and instills a confidence in the team. Blythe has an ample supply of steam, and can work in successive games if called upon to do so. He is steady, keeps his eyes open and watches his chances. At bat he is a very good hitter and his fielding is better than that of an average college pitcher. Taking everything into consideration, Carney fills the responsible position of captain of the team as well, if not better, than any man who could be found for the place. We are sorry to lose Blythe for next year.

Baseball Prospects for 1920

ANY days have been lost from practice due to a wintry spring, but the weather prospects look good now, and we hope to get in some strenuous practice very soon. Coach Sullivan and Captain Carney have been keeping the team in good condition and when they go on the field they will be ready to start at full blast with little practice.

With three men from our championship team of 1918, with eight of last year's squad, with several stars of by-gone days, and with worlds of new material, we are looking for Coach Sullivan to put out a winning team. Ole Miss always places a baseball team in the field that will do justice to her fame, and to the past records she has made. We are proud of her past records, and of the records of her baseball teams, but even with these before us we do not hesitate to say that this year Ole Miss has a chance to develop one of the best, if not the best, team she has ever put on the field.

As is the usual occurrence, we seem to be weakest in the pitcher's and catcher's position. However, we have Holmes, Carney, Henderson, McNease and Bagwell as pitchers, and there is other material as yet untried. For catchers we have McDowell, Hammett, and Hathorne. Only one man is missing from last year's infield and we have no hesitancy in saying that it will be one of the best in the South. The infield will probably be chosen from among the following: W. E. Wilson, Pete Wilson, Lester, Wood, Brown, Ramsey, and Murphy. The outfield will be well represented by Kirk, Barbour, and Farmer.

Around these men Coach Sullivan intends to build a smoothly working and well balanced team and one that will bring home the championship to Ole Miss. Due to the efforts of manager Hull a good schedule has been arranged. The season opens with a series of two games on the campus with Union University.

OLE MISS

The 1919 Team

O'Mara hails from Hattiesburg where he has been acting as athletic coach and director in the Normal school there. On returning to Ole Miss in 1919 after a year's absence he proceeded to do his part for the school in athletics. He played football and caught on the baseball team. O'Mara has had plenty of experience at catching and coupling this with good headwork he was able to be of much assistance to the pitcher in working the batter. He is a good receiver and very seldom does he let a ball get by him. By O'Mara's failing to return this season we lost a good catcher.

Lantrip plays center field and covers this position in such a manner as to leave nothing more to be desired. An error was an unknown animal to him and the season's record had only one chalked up against him. He is fast and covers his territory well. Lantrip was a good hitter and his hits were usually for more than one base. Lantrip is not with us this year and we are sorry to have lost such a good man.

Captain of the varsity baseball team of 1919, Harry Farmer was one of the outstanding figures in helping Ole Miss win her many games. Harry has been an outfielder for Ole Miss for the past several seasons and his absence on the 1920 team is very keenly felt. He was a dangerous man at the bat and whenever he went up to the plate a hit was almost assured. He was one of the best outfielders the University has ever put out, and in losing him we can only hope that his younger brother, Em, can take his place. Harry is a medical student at Tulane University this year.

Sisk was undoubtedly one of the best first basemen who has been at the University in a long time. The 1919 season was his third year on the team, having come to the University from Oxford. Sisk takes the ball from all sides and never makes an error. At bat he was a most valuable man to the team. He hit often and his hits always came when they would count the most. As a base runner he was excellent, and had a good record on stolen bases.

OLE MISS

The 1919 Team

Barbour was the utility man and he proved his worth at any position he was placed. Barbour is exceptionally fast, and so he was able to play good outfield ball, on the infield he was also good, and whenever he got the chance to perform he did so in a satisfactory manner. Barbour has a good batting eye and his batting average was good. He will return next year.

Wood also comes from Batesville and although a freshman he proved to be one of the best infielders on the team. He is fast, seldom misses a ball, and his peg to first is like a streak. As a batter he was the best on the team and in every game his hitting was noticeable. Wood is good on base running and has many stolen bases to his credit. It takes a good catcher to hold him on a base. Wood returns next year.

Bagwell has proven his worth as a pitcher in every game in which he participated. He has plenty of steam, good control and never loses his head. He fields his position well and is good at the bat. The game he pitched against A. & M. last year at Starksville was one of the best pitched games ever seen there. Bagwell is a hard worker and one who never gives up till the last out is made. We are fortunate in having him with us again this year.

Coach Noble first discovered Kirk and since that time Kirk has been giving the University baseball fans an opportunity to see a good man in action. Kirk's batting is better than his fielding and his fielding is excellent. Very seldom did he fail to come into the limelight in the games in which he played for he was always on his toes and taking mental note of the things going on around him. Kirk will not be back next year.

OLE MISS

The 1919 Team

Ray comes from Selma, Ala., and seems to have brought the Alabama ballplaying with him. He caught on the 1919 team and made a good catcher too. This was Ray's first year at catcher but he performed like a veteran in every game. He has a good peg, receives well and knows how to work the batter. At bat he was unusually good and had a good batting average. Ray will not be with us next year.

Lester hails from the section where baseball players are born and he was no exception to the rule. In coming to Ole Miss in 1917, as a freshman, no one thought that he would be wearing an "M" before the end of the school year. However he did make his letter and more than deserved it. He is a fast man in handling the ball and his batting average speaks for itself. In his first game for Ole Miss he hit four times out of four times at the bat. Lester is always dependable, and is the type of infielder that can always be relied upon. Lester returns next year.

Wilson comes from Vaughn Station and since his arrival here he has been showing us how they play ball here. It's pretty good too. Wilson holds down second base for Ole Miss and does it in a very creditable manner. He seldom makes an error, and handles the ball cleanly at all times. Pete is an unusually good hitter and had one of the best batting averages of anyone on the team. Pete will be with us again next year.

Review of the 1919 Baseball Season

ALTHOUGH the schedule for 1919 was rather slim on account of games canceled by opposing teams, still the results of the season were as a whole very satisfactory. We did not win the state championship as in 1918, but the record made by the team was by no means a bad one. From the first the team was handicapped by the lack of a sufficient number of pitchers. The loss of Dick Fields was felt very keenly, and when Scott had to leave school things seemed to be in a pretty bad fix. In spite of these difficulties Coach Noble turned out a team that showed in every game the results of good training.

The season opened with Illinois on the campus, as usual. The first game was one of the most exciting ever seen here, Ole Miss winning score 7-4. Illinois played beautiful ball the next two days and nosed us out in both games score 8-7 and 1-0. On April 8 Coach Noble took his men to Jackson to meet the Millsaps team. The three games played all proved easy victories for Ole Miss the scores being 17-2, 8-1, and 6-0.

On March 17 and 18 we played A. & M. on the campus. These were probably the best games of the season both of them being hotly contested. Ole Miss won the first 4-2 and A. & M. took the second 4-3. The following Wednesday, Millsaps invaded our territory fully determined to wipe out the disgrace of their previous defeats. These games were very similar to the former ones and we won 9-1, 7-0, and 14-1.

The next week the team left for A. & M. to play for the state championship. Both games were hard fought from start to finish but A. & M. took both by the score 7-3 and 5-3.

As a whole the season was satisfactory and everyone was satisfied with the showing the team made. The record was eight games won and four games lost. With the majority of the team back Ole Miss is bound to have a good team in 1920.

OLE MISS

Ours is the book of "OLE MISS" in which is collected "a little bit of everything and not much of anything." This has been arranged in the form you now see it, not to offend anyone, but in an attempt to please--not everyone in every part, but someone in every part--or everyone in some part. That this double purpose may be accomplished is the sincere wish of the editors.

OLE MISS

To a Mississippi Maid

Breathes there a man with soul so dead who has never felt a thrill of admiration permeate every fiber of his being at the sight of that most wondrous and perfect of God's creations—a Mississippi maid! He whose heart does not thrill with ineffable rapture while in her enchanting presence must be blind indeed, and his soul must be the soul of a pigmy.

A fairer form, a sweeter face, a rarer charm, a truer heart has the Mississippi maid than any other being that ever winged its flight from the hand of God. Every fiber of the Mississippian's amorous being thrills with her touch, her glances are a perpetual caress, her lips, mock, lure and bewitch him, and her eyes beam with as bright a radiance as ever shone from the galaxy of the gods. Her shimmering tresses are of paradisaical beauty such as Venus never knew, and the music of her voice would shame the sirens into silence.

Enshrined in every Mississippian's heart of hearts is this paragon of feminine loveliness, this being of consummate beauty, and grace, and purity; the queenliest queen, the sweetest sweetheart, the loveliest and most perfect of the Creator's handiwork,—the Mississippi maid.

Hayseed Letters

University, Miss., Nov. 1, 1919.

Dear Pa:

I am writing again. I enjoyed yore epissel from A. & M. and showed it to several of the fellows. Ramsey got mad bout you mispeling the Georgia Rifles and I'm inclined to think he's one of them things.

I'm still tusseling with Freshman Math and we are now studying eclipsis and parabolas. I don't see no connection in these here math parables and them others I no. Speeking bout parables—next to Fatty Harvey this her Freshman Artz reminds me of the parable of the fatted calf than anybody else round hare.

I'm cognizing Shakespeare under Dr. Bishop. He sprung one on us the other day talking bout quartos. I thought they used half-penny, crown, etc., in Shakespeare age. I got to red mid Summer night dream. Wonder if that Summer was any kin to short Sumner up here who 's always dreaming in class.

We beat Union 25 to nothing yesterday. The funniest thing out there was Hos McLarty and them white pants he borrowed from me.

The dances are in full swing with the tickletoe in the lead. I don't guess I'll get them pants of mine what Donel Right took from the laundry by purpose until the dances are over as he was at the Junior Prom in them last night. No sir, that patch didn't show extra much. I ain't mentioning no names, pa, but this guy they call Aeroplane and another yclept Goat was what the hoi polioicus might term right last night. Ole Aeroplane could dance on a par with that dancing elephant in Walter Main's big one ring Circus. When I seen this guy Houghland trying to shake a foot, so to speak, I got there too, pa, I gotto admit that I wasn't exactly no brillant success but I guess I got on as well as he and McNease. I don't exactly like to say that Rats Jones dances like a grasshopper but my imagination is inadequate beyong that. Alphonso Gorge and this Barber guy might be included in this above-mentioned select bunch. Van Kincannon broke his ankle while attempting to ticklefoot and Dutch Raino threw his knee out of joint turning a curve. Outside of these and the time Willie Hull slipped upon the floor ther were no other casualties.

I done decided not to sue the laundry because if it takes as long to extract money from them as it does to get clean clothes I'll be 20 years getting a dimes worth of damage.

Pa, these boys ain't suporting the picture show out here now. Just like a bunch of country jakes always gotto go in town to se something. You can tell a country man every time. If Rufus Creckmore went here twenty years he'd still have the map of Yallabusha county on his face. I'll be glad when you visit Mississippi College as it must be some place if the guys from there are typical. I wonder if they claime W. D. Conn, Morris, Fox and Wallace—well, I can know how to judge them parsons.

Give my philia to omnibus.

Your shameless son,
HIRAM

POLE MISS

Possum Trot, Miss.
Novem. 3, 1919.

Dere son Hiram:

I just got back from A. and M., and Hezekiah is doing nicely, but they had to shoot the mule what kicked him on account of his leg being broak in two places. I see the L. S. U. foot bal game down their. It was rele excitin. P. D. Houston stepped on a man and broak the man's leg. Enoch Wilson got excited and fell off'n the top sete in the grand stan and busted his—galluses. I seen that feller Bobo what helps coach you-all down to the game also. He sure did look at home. He run out in front of the grand stan just before the game, waved up at a girl and hollered, "Hello, sweetheart," and five girls in the grand stan blushed and said, "Oh, Hirschel." Son, don't you never get to be no heart smasher like that. Henry Monger's uncle (the one whut lives here) told me that he had to borry the parson's swaler tailed coat and send Henry, so's he'd be as dressed up as any of the boys. He said tell Henry to hurry up and send it back cause the parson had to have it by next Sunday to ociate it when Will Hull's best girl gets married to that feller from Poduck. Pete Wilson's pa run over the other day and told me that Pete was agoing to the dances and had writ him for $3 to pay him way in. Son that's scandanlous! Why that much money would have kept Peter in sox and ties for ten years. Next thing you know he will be as extravagant as Dutch Rain-old. I'm glad you are astudying shakespear. Next to Henty, Alger, and Louis Cochran, he's my favorit. Be sure to read his "Two gentlemen full of Bologna," and "doing Much about Nothing." Them two always was my first choices. It was too bad about Cicero Hawk's getting hit on the hend with a pumpkin at that their Haloween party. I bet it busted the pumpkin! I'm surprised that board ain't but $21 dollars this weke. The Board of Control must not of gone to the dances. I've got to git out lot's of cotton tomorrow so I will close. Give my best to Blind Jim, Scipio, Hannibal, Lucrezia, Jovis and Jim Crawely.

Your confectionate pa,
SI HAYSEED.

P. S. Son I forgot to tell you how proud your pa is of you. I just got a letter from one of your professors telling me that you possessed some very assinine qualities. I always new you was smart but I never new you had any such qualities as that. It makes me proud.
Pa.

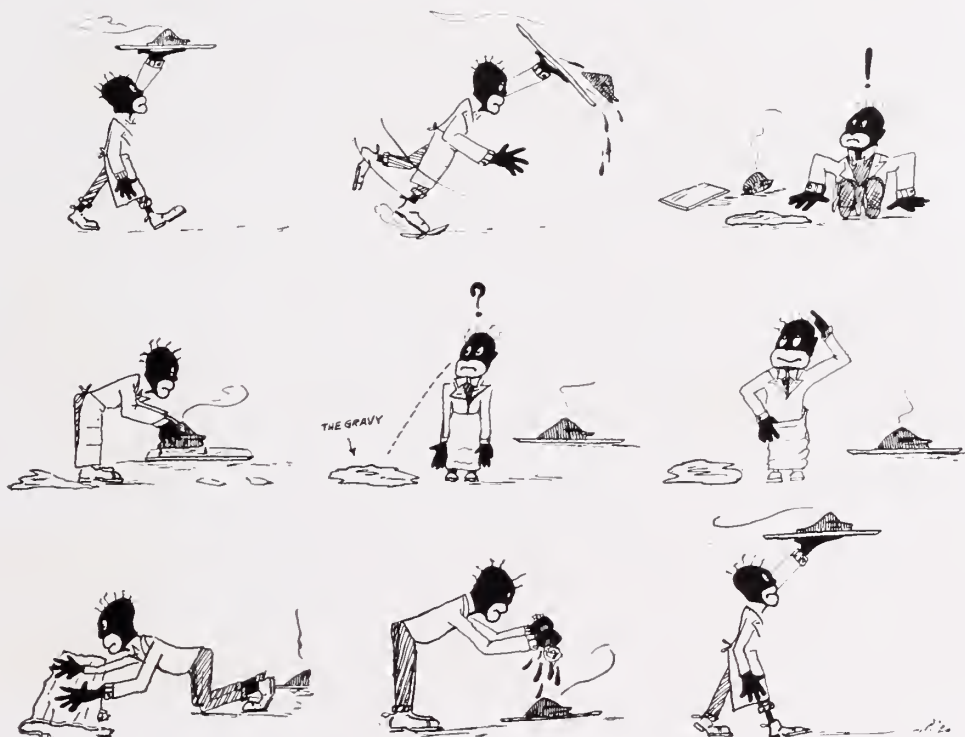

OLE MISS

Our Skid-Pushers

In Ole Miss there are two kinds of Profs, those who feed the intellectual man, and the others; the above is a picture of the others. They feed the physical man. Needless to say the nourishment afforded by the latter is imbibed with a greater relish than the former. There are classes three times a day, and strange to say, no cuts, except in cases of violent illness. Freshmen are of the opinion that there is a vast difference between absorbing a hard-boiled logical fact, and a hard-boiled hen's egg, and that the philosophy of hash, skids and zip, is more sustaining and invigorating than that of Huxley, Locke or Hume. May time's hand deal gently with these Profs of dusky hue, that they may live long and continue to dispense that which keeps alive the spark of life in the breast of the Gordonites.

INGENUITY PAYS

THE MICE

'Twas Thus In the Garden of Eden

AS Adam sat under one of the great chestnut trees in the Garden of Eden, he looked about him, and thought that it was good to be alive. From his recumbent position on the sweet-smelling grass, he could see the monkeys as they chattered happily together in the tree tops. Nearby, a shaggy lion was lying peacefully asleep by the side of a little lamb. Several mice were playing leap frog over the back of a cat, who stood quite still, evidently enjoying the gambol of his little comrades. A huge mastiff stood a few feet away, watching the frolic with a glint of amusement in his eye. Everywhere there was peace, and serenity, for this was paradise—perfection personified.

As Adam slowly took in the peaceful, beautiful scenes about him, he smiled contentedly. "Ah, happy am I," he murmured dreamily, "I thought I was satisfied before, but since you came, oh my Eve, my past life seems but a nightmare. I have tasted the joys of bachelor life, but never again! 'Tis the married life for me." And he arranged the fig leaves carefully about his loins.

"Ah me, who is that?" He rose upright, putting his hand to his ear. "Ah, 'tis Eve. My wondrous, beautiful Eve. I shall await her coming."

From afar off could be heard the silvery accents of the mother of men as she came tripping down an avenue of lindens. Her sweet voice rose, and fell, with infinite gaiety and happiness, and it seemed to Adam that he had never heard her sing so delightfully before.

At last she stopped before her husband with an impulsive gesture. "Oh, Adam dear," she kissed her abashed lord squarely on the cheek, "how do you like my new dress? It's really the latest thing in style. I made it all by myself, don't you think I'm smart?" She pivoted gracefully in front of him.

"I didn't know you cared for style," growled Adam, somewhat displeased by this seeming frivolity on the part of his spouse.

"Cared for style, why you silly boy," Eve shook a playful finger at him. "If it were not for styles to follow, and the clubs, what would we women do to take up our leisure time? What does a man know about woman's clothes any way? I do believe, Adam, you would want me to wear my every day grape vine all the time?"

"Oh well," answered Adam, having this much emphasized masculine failing flung in his face. "I guess you're right, but is that the style?" He frowned glumly, rubbing his chin with his hand.

"Yes," faltered poor Eve, "what is the matter with it?"

"Too short, too short. I tell you, woman, if you are going to try and follow every fad and fashion which starts in this world, you are going to have a tough time of it. Why, that dress is perfectly scandalous." He glanced uneasily at the many beasts which had gathered to watch the scene. "For goodness sake, go and change it. Quick."

"Change it!" Eve's ire was properly aroused. "No, indeed! Are you my lord and master? Am I your servant that you must order me about? If you are going to treat me like that I—I—" She left the sentence unfinished and haughtily walked away, soon disappearing among the luxuriant foliage.

"Well, I say," Adam scratched his head in perplexity, "you never can tell what a woman will do. Well, I'll fix her. I'll doll up in modern dress myself, and see what she thinks of me. Just wait." And he walked away, his head bent deep in thought.

His disgruntled spouse had wandered to the shade of a giant peach tree, and was feeding contentedly on the luscious fruit, apparently having entirely forgotten the little episode with her husband. While engaged in this delightful occupation, she happened to look up, and suddenly gave way to voluminous peals of laughter.

And indeed she had just cause for laughter. Adam had evidently taken the assertions of his wife to heart, and bedecked himself in what he conceived to be modern apparel. Upon the top of his curly hair was perched jauntily a large palm leaf; and in his hand he swung carelessly a limb from a small cypress tree, the latter evidently intended for a swagger stick. Struck dumb with amazement at the conduct of his helpmate, he stopped, and stared open mouthed.

"Why, what are you laughing at?" he finally stammered, "What's so funny?"

"Funny?" Eve shrieked with unrestrained joy. "Funny? Oh, if you could only see how you looked."

"Well, how do I look?" Adam's tone was almost vexed, "don't I look like a man of the world?"

"Do you?" Eve wiped away the tears of laughter from her eyes. "I should say you don't. Why you haven't anything on, except a tie, and a hat."

"Well isn't that enough?" Adam asked querulously, "I don't generally wear that much. This is the style for young men, I'm as stylish as you are. If you can wear a fig leaf for an evening gown, why can't I sport a swagger stick for a full dress suit?"

"Adam, darling," Eve evidently desired to pour oil upon the troubled waters. "Let's don't quarrel. Remember, we are in Paradise. Let's abandon all this nonsense, and just be plain country folks. Let other people be frivolous, if they want to, I'm going to be just a plain woman, the happiest."—

"And the sweetest, prettiest wife in all the world," finished Adam, jerking off his palm leaf chapeau, and throwing aside his swagger stick. "As long as I have you," he added tenderly, taking her in his arms, "I shall always be happy, and content no matter what comes, or goes." And he kissed her gently on the lips.

Thus came to an end the first little domestic tiff in the Garden of Eden.

In the Long Ago

Reincarnation's a theory old,
How men have lived a life before
(Or maybe three or four)
Some startling facts'll now be told.

Strutting amidst the trees and flowers
Teachin' writin' and readin!
In the Garden of Eden
Bulled ole Joseph N. Powers.

Drawing hyperbolae in the sand,
Makin' the figures awful crude
With materials rude
"Ally" was teachin' his apish band.

Helping him, looking sad and sorry,
Provin' by means of stones and sticks
7 times 8 equals 56
Whittled and mumbled "Grandma" Torrey.

Carving and cutting a fossil's hock;
Slashing with great might and main
In sunshine and rain
Worked and sweated ole Doctor "Joc."

And assisting in this primeval stunt
Holding the huge animal firm
While watching him squirm
Struggled and muttered lanky Doc Hunt.

Acting his part in this ancient farce
Clad in a Roman toga and gown
Following Sweet Horace aroun'
Ole Bondy as usual was saying, "Yaas! Yaas!"

Trying to learn Euripides' view;
Sipping Greek wine from a bottle;
Playing marbles with Aristotle
Mildly was uttering "philly koo poo."

Making a mixture of H_2S
Chasing a molecule through the air
Trying to make two atoms pair
Swan was making a H—l of a mess.

We'd tell you more of this ancient bout
But your time is short
There's other sport
And, besides, our Bull's run out.

Commonly known as "Wee Willie," as speedy as the turtle, as handsome as Hannibal, treasurer of everything, manager of the baseball team, and a few other things. A. B. CARNEY

Better known as "Alphy," captain of the baseball team, dark skin and teeth like the girls fall for. Hails from Clarksdale, makes all the dances, engages in all college activities and studies in whatever time he may have left.

L. B. MORRIS

Who came from Mississippi College but despite that fact is a good athlete. Captain of the basketball team and a member of the football team. As silent as a sphinx in most cases but the Lord only knows what a line he has when he's with the ladies.

DONALD WRIGHT

"Ole Miss" has never had a more dependable man than Donald Wright. President of the student body, Y. M. C. A. Secretary, and Business Manager of "Ole Miss," are evidences of the popularity of this young attorney. (The adjective "young" is to be given a professional interpretation).

CLYDE HESTER

This disciple of Abe Lincoln came from Taylorsville a few years ago, and became manager and general "announcer" of Gordon Hall. Besides his good looks and his rail-splitting proclivities he has another Abe Lincoln trait. He will be president if he succeeds in fooling all the people some time as well as he fools some people all the time.

D. W. HOLMES

This Beau Brummel, lawyer, sheriff of University County Moot Court, and humorist is a better student of men than of books—hence his popularity. He is also far from being indifferent to the fair sex—notwithstanding his misadventures with some of them. "D. W." is bound to succeed.

CRIP GORDON

This popular football star came over in an ox-cart from Daleville, Miss., via Meridian. He seems not to be ashamed of the fact that he attended Mississippi College before entering the medical school here. Perhaps that may be explained by the fact that he met "her" in Clinton.

E. L. COCHRAN

Unfortunately called "handsome"—(when a child)—he is what he is and no more. Has edited everything from "Ole Miss" to "Why Chickens Go Home to Poost." A person of intense enthusiasms and afraid of nothing except Freshman Math. A vehement worker; with his chair rocking viciously beneath his Underwood, and sparks flying from the keys, he makes Vesuvius look like a sick fire-fly signalling a snake doctor thru the wrong end of a telescope.

J. T. CRAWLEY

An ardent disciple of Cicero and the fine arts. A man who will make his mark in the work—though it be nothing but a scratch. Jim was elected the Biggest Politician at the University and one has but to glance through the pages of any Ole Miss Annual to see how well he earned the title. Yearning for greater fields to conquer he leaves Ole Miss this spring to show the misguided old world how to right itself.

Ole Miss Epochs

When "Ole Miss opened in Septem,
The treaty fight was warming;
The Freshman class came troopin' in
While Wilson went informing.
We filled the dorms to overflow
And then slept in the alleys;
The steel strike soon was brought to end,
The Freshmen got their tallies.

This year has been chock-full of things;
It's had its ups and downs—
The usual slips twixt op'ning day
And donning caps and gowns.
The Red Sox won the championship;
Out West, they lynched a Mayor;
The Kaiser lost his Fatherland
The Freshmen lost their hair.

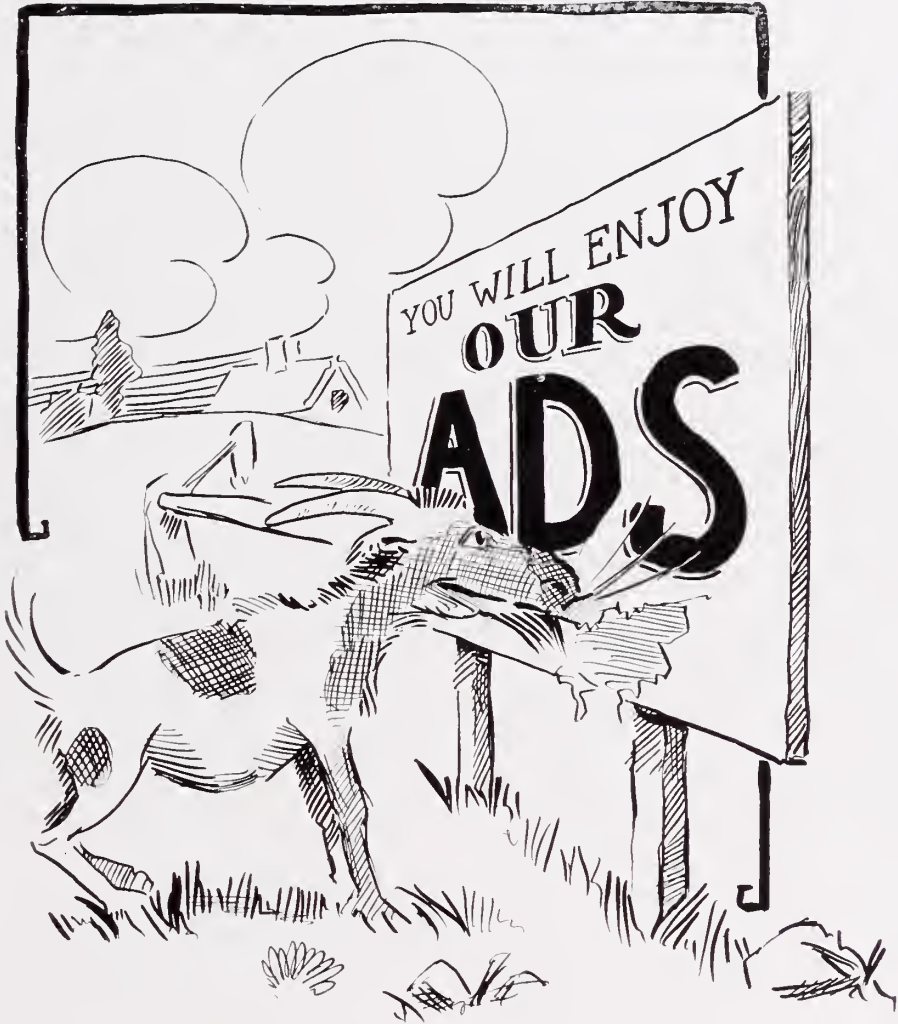

Thanksgiving time and Christmas too
Each bro't about its change,
And "change" was scarce with some of us
With prices out of range.
Both Mutt and Jeff, and Dubb and Dough,
And Jiggs and Maggie too,
And Hiram Hayseed and his pa
Survived the Spanish flu.

The Gordon boarders ate their "skids"
And sopped their sorghum 'lasses;
The Legislature met in Jan,
And some of them are—statesmen.
"Ole Miss" will stand by those who stood
For seeing her made greater.
For voting down the suffrage bill
The suffs will see 'em later.

Commencement time is on us now
With flow'rs and dips and speeches;
The Hottentots of Africa
Still go without their breeches.
The presidential candidates
Are wond'ring who will win—
And here we close, Et Cetera,
Et cetera,—amen.

TRIVERS CLOTHES represent style, exclusiveness, our own designing—manufactured in our own factory. The brilliant results of the combined efforts of the Trivers organization of master craftsmen.

Today 200,000 men and young men regularly buy Trivers Clothes and regularly save money thereby, because they are sold—
